Country's top wrestlers Sakshi Malik, Vinesh Phogat, Anshu Malik and Bajrang Punia stage protest against WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh on Wednesday | EXPRESS

SPORTS in the country has not seen such an uprising by players in recent times. In a dramatic turn of events, top wrestlers of the country staged a protest against their federation at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi on Wednesday. The wrestlers accused Wrestling Federation of India president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh of sexual exploitation and demanded his immediate ouster.

The grapplers, instead of joining their national camps, led by Olympic and world championships medallist Bajrang Punia and multiple world medallist Vinesh Phogat reached Jantar Mantar. They were joined by about 30 top wrestlers, including 2016 Rio Olympics medallist Sakshi Malik, world medallists Sarita Mor and Anshu Malik.

With a few coaches too joining them, the sit-in gathered steam and by evening the venue was brimming with activities, where Vinesh made startling revelations against the WFI chief. She alleged that he was sexually exploiting women wrestlers for years. Singh, a BJP member of parliament from Kaiserganj (UP), denied all charges saying he can be hanged if they are proven.

"I know at least 10-20 women wrestlers who have told me about the sexual exploitation they faced at the hands of (the) WFI president. They told me their stories. I can't take their names now but I can definitely reveal the names if we get to meet the prime minister and the home minister of the country," Vinesh said while addressing the media. She, however, clarified that she never faced such exploitation. She also alleged that several coaches at the national camp in Lucknow, too, exploited women wrestlers.

Vinesh had more harrowing tales to recite. "I have received death threats from people who are close to the WFI president (because she dared to draw PM's attention to several issues plaguing Indian wrestling when she met him after Tokyo). If anything happens to any of us sitting here, only the WFI president will be responsible," she charged. Singh, 66, who was elected WFI president for a third consecutive term in February 2019, called it a plot on behalf of an industrialist. P17

No water scarcity this year, as groundwater levels rise

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THERE may be no water scarcity this year in Karnataka, which is seeing 90 per cent of its taluks experiencing an increase in ground water levels thanks to abundant rain in 2022. The state, which was staring at depleting ground water levels at many places, is now witnessing a positive trend with the levels much higher as compared to previous years.

A senior official said the minor irrigation department has installed sensors in 1,500 wells across the state that read the water level in real time.

According to the data available with TNIE, of the 233 taluks in the state, only 11 have witnessed a fall in the static underground water level.

GS Srinivasa Reddy, a senior consultant with the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre (KSNDMC), told The New Indian Express that there has been an increase in water levels over the last few years, but it was even better last year.

He attributed it to good rain in Karnataka over the last four years. With no drought, the rain kept soil moisture intact that helped farmers to depend less, or even avoid, borewell water at many places.

Reddy said good rain has filled most tanks and lakes, helping recharge ground water.

"On the one hand, the state received good rain and on the other, ground water was not being exploited like before (as farmers depended on rainwater). Also, with the groundwater level up, water quality too has improved. Now borewell water is potable in many places," he said.

Of the 11 taluks with lesser groundwater levels, Bengaluru East saw a fall by 11.02 metres, followed by Kalasa in Chikkamagaluru by 9.75 metres. Interestingly, the level has dipped in three taluks from Dakshina Kannada.

CBI court reopens assets case against Mulayam family

SHAHID FARIDI @New Delhi

A special CBI court on Wednesday reopened the case of a fake report filed by Mulayam Singh Yadav in the Supreme Court in 2019, which claimed that the agency had given him and his family members a clean chit in a disproportionate assets case.

The CBI last month filed a closure report claiming it was unable to track the people who had fabricated the report cited by Mulayam.

Special judge Anjani Mahajan on Wednesday took cognizance of the CBI's claim that the report was fake but rejected its closure report. It ordered further probe on the modus operandi of the culprits. It asked the investigation officer to file a supplementary report by March 24.

Mulayam had filed in the SC a 17-page note purportedly prepared by the CBI as proof of the agency giving him and his family a clean chit. The CBI forensically examined the note and came to a conclusion that it was fake.

The agency informed the special court that "the handwriting expert of CFSL, New Delhi has opined that the 17-page review note is a forged one and the said note contains a forged signature of DIG/AC-II."

WFH FOR TECHIES PITS BMTC, KSRTC AGAINST EACH OTHER

To make up losses, BMTC wants to run buses to dists nearby, KSRTC not happy

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE work from home option for multi-national company employees, mainly tech workers, has put the state-run Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) and Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) in a dilemma. While BMTC proposes to operate air-conditioned buses, which were widely used by techies during pre-Covid times, to neighbouring districts, KSRTC officials seem sceptical as they see two government organisations competing with each other for the same routes.

BMTC now operates around 7,000 buses, of which over 800 are air-conditioned, most of them Volvos. The AC buses were earlier plying mainly to tech hubs -- Whitefield and Electronics City -- and the Kempegowda International Airport. But ever since the pandemic stuck, a majority of the companies have allowed their employees to opt for the hybrid work model, where the staff has to go to office only once or twice a week. Many companies have also stopped their contract with BMTC to ferry staff. The fallout is that these AC buses now hardly see any patronage, causing BMTC to lose revenue. Last year, it slashed fares of AC buses to woo commuters, but it did not improve occupancy.

To improve earnings, BMTC has been proposing to run AC buses from Bengaluru to Kolar, Tumakuru, Ramanagara and Chikkaballapur districts. BMTC Managing Director Sathyvathi G has written to KSRTC Managing Director Anbu Kumar, seeking permission, sources said.

Before Covid, AC buses were run from different parts of the city to these companies at a monthly charge of Rs 6,000. Apart from WFH, improving Metro connectivity and cabs too have hit the BMTC bottomline. Now, hardly any AC buses are run on these routes.

Earlier this month, BMTC started operating buses, even non-AC, to Chikkaballapur. But it was not welcomed by KSRTC. A senior KSRTC official said it is not fair to run BMTC buses on KSRTC routes. "How can two state-owned organisations compete with each other," he asked.

KSRTC to push its double-decker plans based on BMTC's run

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

AMONG those awaiting the roll-out of BMTC's double-decker buses is the KSRTC. The state transporter is keen to know BMTC's experience with the buses, as it is itself exploring options to run such buses on select intercity routes, based on their feasibility. "We have started operations of one electric bus on the intercity route -- Bengaluru to Mysuru. By February-end, we plan to introduce 49 buses on six routes. The e-bus is a new technology and we are slowly adopting green mobility in KSRTC. We are also exploring options to operate double-decker buses on intercity routes if it is feasible," said Anbu Kumar, MD, KSRTC.

He said they are waiting to know the BMTC's experience with double-decker buses. BMTC has invited bids for five electric double-decker buses, which are expected to hit the road by May-June. "On intercity routes, our buses have to cover long distances in the stipulated time period. Our regular buses travel at a speed of around 80 kmph. For now, the private operators do not have double-decker buses that can go on long distances at that speed. However, private companies are working on manufacturing buses to cover long distances. Such buses have to get the Central Motor Vehicle Rules certification from the Central Institute of Road Transport (CIRT)," he explained.

"There are many practical difficulties in operating double-decker buses. We can see that there are foot-over bridges, flyovers, underpasses and others on the road. Also, these buses cannot be manoeuvred in the same manner as regular buses and require special driving skills," Kumar said, adding that is why they will wait for the BMTC to operate double-decker buses to know their experience before proceeding with their own plans.

BWSSB recovers ₹19cr dues with BMTF help

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) recovered nearly Rs 19.35 crore of its pending water bills from defaulters in the city over the past five years, after notices were issued by the Bangalore Metropolitan Task Force (BMTF) and FIRs filed under the BWSSB Act. Among those who paid up their bills is Small Scale Industries and Municipal Administration Minister MTB Nagaraj and his family members, said a government source.

Additional Director General of Police, BMTF, K Ramachandra Rao told TNIE that as per data available with BMTF, a total of Rs 19,34,28,118 had been paid by defaulters to the Water Board in five years, from 2018 to 2022. Following submission of the list of defaulters by BWSSB, the Task Force filed 347 non-cognizable reports and issued individual notices to households, that helped realise Rs 14,04,85,187 from them. In addition, FIRs were booked against 204 families, and a sum of Rs 5,29,52,931 was collected from them.

"The fines collected from the public include two kinds of complaints – unauthorised water connections and default in payment of bills," Rao added.

A government source said water bill defaulters included minister Nagaraj and his family members. "Notices were issued to Nagaraj, his brother N Pillappa and a few relatives recently, as their unpaid bills over a few years ran into lakhs of rupees. The minister recently settled all bills," the source said.

Nagaraj told TNIE, "I pay taxes running into many crores annually. I have settled all my pending water bills." His accountant Vidya Prakash said, "The water bills were not paid by residents of a building belonging to the minister, located in Garudacharpalya. It is now operated by a tenant as a paying guest accommodation for men. They used to get water from the borewell, and finally got BWSSB water in 2019. I think they had not paid bills since then. It roughly came to Rs 1,30,000 and has been settled."

Another property belonging to the minister is a hospital near Phoenix Marketcity in Mahadevapura. "The minister's son-in-law runs an orthopaedic hospital there. It was built in 2020. The water bills were pending there too, and have been settled," Prakash said. BWSSB officials were evasive when questioned about arrears involving the minister. Chairman N Jayaram did not respond to this reporter's repeated calls, while other officials remained tight-lipped, from engineer-in-chief N Suresh to local engineers in Mahadevapura.

Govt platform to aid students for competitive examinations

ENS @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said the state government is coming up with an online platform to help students prepare for various competitive examinations.

"We are coming up with an interactive online platform in February to help students prepare for all competitive examinations. It will provide all information to students free of cost," the CM said during an interaction with students from across the state, which was organised by a team of youngsters led by BJP Yuva Morcha leader Anil Shetty.

The online platform will be similar to private websites that enrol students by taking money to provide information, the CM said, adding, "It will have all information, including question banks required to prepare for competitive examinations."

Bommai said the government is emphasising digital learning and digital training and is taking measures to develop government schools.

The CM took several questions from students and gave them suggestions on staying positive and focusing on their studies, as well as shared his experiences during his college days.

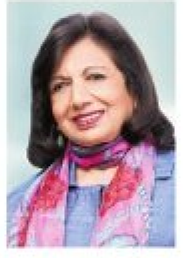
BOOK DELVES INTO MYSTERIES OF CELL SCIENCE, SAYS KIRAN

ENS @Bengaluru

KIRAN Mazumdar-Shaw, executive chairperson, Biocon and Biocon Biologicals Limited, on Wednesday unveiled Dr Siddhartha Mukherjee's latest book 'The Song of The Cell: An Exploration of Medicine and the New Human' in Bengaluru.

Mukherjee is a noted oncologist, cancer researcher and Pulitzer Prize-winning author. The book was unveiled at an event at the Museum of Art and Photography. It was followed by a conversation between the two, where they discussed the evolving field of gene and cell therapies. They also gazed into the future of modern medicine and its transformational potential in helping humanity enjoy longer and healthier lives.



Commenting on the book, Kiran said it is a priceless chronicle of how scientists discovered cells, how they began to understand cell biology and are now using that knowledge to usher in revolutionary changes through bio-medicines. She said he brings his own experience as a scientist, a doctor and writer in telling the story of cells, which are the basic structural and functional units of every living organism. It is an immaculately researched book, which inspires the reader to delve deeper into the mysteries of cellular science, and a greater understanding of it, she said.

Siddhartha said 'The Song of the Cell' understands life at the level of its most fundamental unit: the cell. "We are entering a new century of the cell. The fundamental questions in biology and medicine today can be answered through a better understanding of cells and cell biology. Our new-found ability to manipulate cells and change their properties is also opening new frontiers in medicine. I wrote this book because I felt these ideas needed to be communicated to the public at a level they can understand," he said.

PETER VIDAL

19th January : It's a Libran day today, which means one thing: compromise! Libran people will do anything to be liked, so they spend a lot of time avoiding arguments. My advice is to try to find a middle path, no matter how difficult it seems. Everyone has a point of view and, even if we don't like it, at least we can listen. Sometimes talking really can defuse tense situations!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Continue to bide your time and don't allow other people to pressurise you into an early decision. Neither should you allow them to scoff at your ideas. Above all, you must have the courage of your convic-tions. If you stand up for what is right, then your self-esteem can only increase.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Unless a final agreement is reached now, it will be some time before you are prepared to re-open negotiations, perhaps because your ideas no longer seem so wonderful. You're entering a period which can best be described as one of contemplation, and your most interesting ideas will not be for public consumption.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Whatever is currently taking place either at home or at work, remember that you may be required to pay up. So, you should be very cautious and avoid all rash financial commitments. You might now be a good influence on people who have broken the rules once too often.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Some personal pressures are easing, but others are waiting in the wings. You feel as if you should take control, but is that really wise? If you give yourself as long as you need to consider the consequences, you'll decide on the best course of action. Think things through!

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
You have become involved in associations which could be helping your self-confidence. Only one question is now outstan-ding, and that is whether current relationships are based on genuine honesty and understanding. As a matter of interest, it's a suitable moment for telling someone how you really feel about them - in a positive sense, of course.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You appear to be on the fringes of a rather complex emotional situation, for which there now seem to be two possible outcomes. Either it will all blow over, or it will be removed from your hands. One way or the other, you can afford to be more relaxed.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The only way to form successful partnerships now is to do what you have always done best - compromise and consult. Plus, you can leave people at work to sort out what they want before attempting to reach firm decisions. After all, if they don't see eye-to-eye then joint plans are unlikely to get very far.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
What is difficult for other people could be very helpful for you. Therefore, please do concentrate on making the most of any and every opportunity which comes your way, even while you're helping partners out of any difficulty. Consider social arrangements carefully, because by tomorrow your needs will have changed.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You can still make heavy weather of home and family matters, perhaps because you have been confused, even dumb-struck, by relatives' changes of mood or opinion. It is quite acceptable to press on with practical improvements without waiting for permission.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Mercury is soon to alter its position so, if you've reached a firm decision, you may have to think again, even if only to confirm your original choice. The time for straight talking will return very soon, but until then you should concentrate on getting the facts straight, and on clearing up misunderstandings.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Maximum confusion is likely at work and in all routine chores, so if you drop, break or lose vital items, you'll know why: it's all thanks to the muddling effects of Neptune, delicately aligned with Venus and Mercury. Mind you, it's a fine moment for artists and lovers.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You've taken on too much. You may have no choice but to fulfil your promises but, in future, you should learn to say 'no' more often than 'yes' and so avoid such taxing and potentially expensive conditions. You may be able to appeal to a friend for help, but they might want to know how you came to repeat an old mistake.

Neuro rehab helps bring cyclist's life to normal

Discharged after 5 months; 36-yr-old met with an accident in the US

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A Bengalurean, who met with a bicycle accident in the USA last year, was discharged from a city hospital in December 2022. He was brought back to Bengaluru for treatment as the US doctors claimed that chances of his survival were extremely low.

Pravin Raj Radha (36) had suffered severe brain, facial and eye injuries and had a loss of cognitive and behavioural skills and mobility in the accident. Despite being on the ventilator for 3-4 weeks in the US, his condition never improved. When doctors claimed that his chances of survival were one per cent, his family brought him back expecting some hope of his recovery.

Pravin was brought to Sakra World Hospital in Bengaluru in a comatose condition, with weakness of both upper and lower limbs, agitation, and difficulty with sitting, walking, speaking, and swallowing.

He was brought in a bedridden state and was assessed by Dr Maheshwarappa B M, Head and Senior Consultant for Neuro Rehabilitation. Following the doctor's assessment, he was given a comprehensive neuro rehabilitation treatment and was successfully discharged after a treatment of five months.

Dr Maheshwarappa explained, "Neuro rehabilitation plays a significant role in the healing process of those who have suffered traumatic brain injuries. The rehab programme is designed based on the patient's condition and needs to help them recover from the painful effects of the injury." Several advanced technologies were used to revive a person's sensory stimulation. Doctors said his condition has remarkably improved as he is able to stand on his own and communicate as well. He is undergoing rehabilitation training.

Spat over parking slot results in murder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

WEST division police cracked three murder cases in the past week. In one case, the body of an unidentified man was found in a drain under a footpath in Sunkadakatte on January 13, leaving police foxed. Probe led Kamakshipalya police to a private bus driver.

Police said the deceased Venkataswamy (52), a resident of Sunkadakatte, also worked as a private bus driver. A probe revealed that he regularly parked his bus near GT Industrial Complex near Magadi Road. On the night of January 12, when he went to park the bus, he was angry to see another bus parked at the same place, and the driver, Venkatesh, sleeping inside. Ventakaswamy threw a stone at the windshield of the bus, and picked a fight with Venkatesh, who pushed him out of the bus and stamped him to death.

"The accused transported the body in the bus and dumped it in a drain, then went back to the parking place. He reported to work," police added.

In another case, Kengeri police arrested Venkatesh (32), a goods auto driver, who murdered his brother-in-law Satish on Monday. Police said Venkatesh was married to Satish's sister. Satish visited Venkatesh's house frequently, and had an illicit affair with his sister. When her husband learnt about the affair, he deserted her. "Following a fight between Satish and Venkatesh's sister, she asked him not to meet her again. But Satish went to the tea shop where she worked and quarrelled with her. Venkatesh, who learnt about it, told Satish he wanted to talk to him, and took him in his auto to Dhananayakanahalli in Visvesvaraya Layout. As tempers rose, Venkatesh attacked Satish with an umbrella and stabbed him to death using a knife," police said.

In yet another case, Byatarayanapura police arrested Hemanth (24), a resident of Deepanjali Nagar, for allegedly murdering Jagadish (32), a painter. A disagreement broke out on Saturday, during which Hemanth slapped Jagadish, who fell and injured his head, and succumbed to his injuries.

BOMMAI COMBATS CONG'S GRUHA LAKSHMI WITH GRUHINI SHAKTI

Assam has already implemented similar scheme, says chief minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

COUNTERING Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra's pre-poll announcement of Rs 2,000 to all women heads of households, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that preparations are under way to implement Gruhini Shakti Scheme, under which Rs 2,000 will be given to women of BPL families. The Assam government has already implemented a similar scheme which will be studied.

When asked about Revenue Minister R Ashoka's remark that the state government is preparing a scheme to counter the Congress' promise, Bommai told reporters at Birur town in Chikkamagaluru district on Wednesday he had already announced the scheme a few days ago, and it will be finalised soon.

"We are calling the scheme Gruhini Shakti. I am gathering information to finalise the scheme. For a while, we have been thinking of coming out with such a scheme which can give more relief to poor families. The Assam government has already implemented a similar scheme, which we can replicate," he said.

Asked about senior BJP leader Basanagouda Patil Yatnal's recent statements, Bommai said that such leaders are "friends enthusiasm", and the party high command will speak to Yatnal.

Speaking on the reservation of Panchamasali community, he said that the interim report from the Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes regarding reservation and other communities is before the cabinet, and a clear picture will emerge once the final report is submitted, which will provide solution to issues such as classification of backward classes and reservation.

Sources said that Bommai has spoken to the high command on cabinet expansion when he took part in the BJP's executive committee meeting in New Delhi. The Gokak MLA was made a minister after he played a key role in toppling the Congress-JDS alliance government led by HD Kumaraswamy, but had to resign following the CD case. Jarkiholi and former RDPR minister KS Eshwarappa, who had resigned in the aftermath of the suicide of contractor Santhosh Patil, have been given a clean chit. Another former minister and MLC CP Yogishwar, who hails from the Vokkaliga community in the Old Mysuru region, is also expecting a cabinet berth.

No confusion, you should be 21 to drink

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Drinking age in Karnataka will continue to be 21 years and above. The State Excise Department, in an official release on Wednesday, clarified that the proposal to lower the drinking age from the present 21 years to 18 years has been withdrawn following "objections raised by public, associations and media", the release stated.

On January 9, the Finance Department had proposed lowering the age limit from 21 to 18 in Draft Notification - I -FD 9 PES 2022. Thirty days were given for objections/suggestions to the said draft rules.

According to informed sources, the decision to maintain the status quo in minimum drinking age was to prevent a backlash from opposition parties and the public in an election year.

The proposal to lower the drinking age was mooted to do away with the discrepancy between the Karnataka Excise Act 1965, as per which, the minimum drinking age in Karnataka is 18 and the Karnataka Excise Licenses (General Conditions) Rules 1967 as per which, the legal age is 21. "The conflict between the Excise Act and Excise Rules was creating problems of enforcement. A considerable segment of drinkers, especially those who prefer beer, are college-goers who are aged between 18 and 19. Also, some states have lowered the drinking age from 21 to 18," said sources.

Besides enforcement, another major reason behind the proposed amendment regarding the age limit was also to accelerate revenue generation.

Clear dues by March 31 or will stop work: Contractors

ENS @ Bengaluru

Members of Karnataka Contractors' and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Contractors' association launched a day-long protest at Freedom Park on Wednesday, led by by general secretary of Karnataka Contractors' Association D Kempanna and BBMP contractors' association president, KT Manjunath and others. They warned that if the dues are not cleared by March 31, all civic works will be stopped in Karnataka.

They demanded the release of ₹25,000 crore pending amount, reduction in GST rates, action against officials for harassment, and a smooth tender process for works.

As per a Class-I contractor from Peenya, the protest is a symbolic gesture of unity and strength as Karnataka Contractors' Association president D Kempanna and four others were arrested and jailed after Horticulture Minister Munirathna filed a criminal defamation case. "Hundreds of letters have been written to the chief minister, ministers and officials, but no action has been taken," said Kempanna.

Regarding alleged corruption against some MLAs and ministers, Kempanna demanded that a commission be set up under a sitting high court judge. "We will submit all documents regarding the charges."

The contractors said that most of the works mainly pertain to the Public Works department (PWD), Irrigation Department, and BBMP. Echoing the same, KT Manjunath said they have already issued a warning to BBMP to settle the dues of Palike contractors by January 31, failing which, all work will be stopped.

Before BJP goes door-to-door, Cong wants to make its schemes popular

KPCC manifesto committee chairman Dr G Parameshwara addresses a party workers' meeting in Tumakuru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

CONGRESS seems to be in a hurry to popularise its proposed family-oriented schemes among households, before the ruling BJP starts its door-to-door campaign.

The Grand Old Party, which has been making a flurry of poll promises, is indicating that it would bank heavily on these schemes to strike a chord with families before the April/May Assembly polls.

Over the last few days, it has promised 200 units of free electricity, Rs 150 for students studying between classes 1 and 5, and Rs 300 for students from classes six to ten and Rs 2,000 every month to every woman head of the family under the 'Gruhalakshmi' scheme. This is not it, the opposition party will come up with more such announcements as the polls near, sources said. To have sufficient time to drive home these schemes and the time-tested strategy to win over voters, Congress is revealing its manifesto much ahead of its official release.

It is an apparent move to counter the BJP government's election-oriented and 'populist' budget that will be presented by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on February 17.

"We want the campaigning to take off mouth to mouth before BJP leaders start falsely claiming that these schemes would be funded through central grants. Such statements did the rounds when then chief minister Siddaramaiah launched the popular Annabhagya rice distribution scheme," KPCC manifesto committee chairman Dr G Parameshwara told party workers at a preliminary meeting he held ahead of the party's Praja Dhwani bus yatra, which arrives here on January 24.

He recalled that the anti-incumbency factor against then ruling parties helped Congress win majority in 1989 and 1999 under the leadership of Veerendra Patil and SM Krishna. It will work again this year as the ruling BJP in the state is facing a similar situation. "In Vidhana Soudha, every pillar shouts out 40 per cent commission. We should focus our campaign around this. If Congress fails to come to power this time, the future will be bleak for us and people of the state," he warned.

Confusion

In the Tumakuru City Assembly constituency, businessman Attica Babu is trying to be the Congress nominee. Babu first tried for a ticket from JDS, but senior party leader HD Kumaraswamy had already announced Govindaraju's name.

"He has got a line to Parameshwara and KPCC president DK Shivakumar through Tumakuru JDS MLA DC Gowrishankar. He wants to join the party during the Praja Dhwani Yatra," sources said. But local leaders, especially from the minority community, have been divided over Babu joining the party, while others are not ready to accept him as he is an outsider, they added.

IT is impossible to prevent the Congress from coming to power in Karnataka, even if Prime Minister Narendra Modi visits the state on multiple occasions, Opposition leader Siddaramaiah said here on Wednesday.

"The Congress will win 130 to 150 seats in the 2023 elections," he said, before joining the Praja Dhwani Yatra. Reacting to the BJP's allegations that he was a "nomad", Siddaramaiah said, "I am called a nomad if I contest from two constituencies, but Narendra Modi who contested from two constituencies is a popular leader for the BJP. Am I not a popular leader? The people's support is important when you contest elections and not how many constituencies you contest from."

The state government is attempting to cover up the Santro Ravi case in the backdrop of the involvement of several ministers, MLAs and home minister, he charged.

Commenting on the ongoing tussle between Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani and Vijayapura MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal, he said Yatnal speaks sense at times, and the Central BJP leadership rallies behind him. "BJP leaders are not acting against Yatnal as they fear he may expose them," he said.

STATE BJP HAS FAILED: DKS

Attacking the Bommai government, KPCC President D K Shivakumar said the BJP has to face the 2023 elections under the leadership of PM Modi and national leaders because the Bommai government has miserably failed in all fields.

He told the media in Bagalkot that the state government has failed to deliver on its promises, and desperately needs its national leaders.

"The BJP neither fulfilled the assurances it gave to the people nor has it been able to contain skyrocketing prices," Shivakumar added.

Commenting on the allotment of party tickets to aspirants, he said the party's election committee will meet on February 2 and a decision on the final list of candidates will be taken.

The party high command will take a call on the number of constituencies a candidate can contest from, he said, adding that Siddaramaiah has already filed an application to contest from one constituency.

HARIPRASAD, AGRI MINISTER PATIL ABUSE EACH OTHER

Bengaluru: Opposition leader in the Council B K Hariprasad and Agriculture Minister BC Patil were involved in a slugfest, after the former triggered a controversy by likening the 17 Congress and JDS MLAs who had migrated to BJP in 2019, to sex workers. Hitting back, Patil called Hariprasad a 'pimp', prompting the latter to ask him to prove his remark. Hariprasad, who is on the Praja Dhwani Yatra, kicked off the row while speaking to reporters in Hosapete. Later, in Bagalkot, he said he was sorry if he had hurt sex workers. Continuing his attack, he said, "I know what these migrant MLAs did to become ministers. BJP leader Basanagouda Patil Yatnal has exposed them." BJP MLC Hemalatha Nayak said Hariprasad's remarks were an insult to women and demanded an apology. "On the one hand, the Congress held the 'Naa nayaki' programme, and on the other, it is disrespecting women," she said.

'Ill-treatment' irks ex-minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER minister Nafees Fazal expressed displeasure over the way Congress workers and police officials treated her during the party event in Bengaluru on Monday, and decided to bring this to the notice of AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge.

The former minister said that when she walked up to the dais to sit along with other former ministers from the party during the event attended by AICC general secretary Priyanka Gandhi, women police officials manhandled her and pulled her down from there.

"I was shocked when someone walked up to me and said I am not in the Congress party and joined the BJP. They asked me to leave. This is totally false. I am in Congress," the former minister said, adding that recently she was invited to the party meeting attended by senior Congress leaders.

Fazal questioned the party leaders about her being left out when all former women ministers from the party were on the dais. "Why am I being targeted and left out? Because I am a Muslim woman?" she questioned. The former minister wrote to the Bengaluru City Police Commissioner, requesting him to inquire at whose behest she was manhandled and dragged down from the dais. "I was ready to leave and requested them not to hurt me as I am a senior citizen and a high blood pressure patient with a heart problem. This is not the way to behave with citizens, especially a former minister," she stated in a letter to the police commissioner.

A house for Mr Siddu, but with the right vastu

V VELAYUDHAM @ Kolar

Congress leaders are scouring for a house in Kolar city for Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, as he will be contesting from Kolar, which will have the positive effects of vastu.

Speaking to TNIE, Anil Kumar, Congress MLC, said they have identified a few houses in C Byre Gowda Nagar, Jayangarar and other places, but nothing has been finalised so far.

Another condition is that the house should be close to the Bengaluru-Chennai Highway which will also make it easier for people to reach, space to park the vehicles of leaders who come to meet him, and the leaders are want that the house should be constructed keeping in mind the vastu factor.

The house should also be spacious for holding meetings with leaders, he said, adding that there is no restrictions in terms of rent. The rent of houses they have seen so far is Rs 25,000, he said. In the next three to four days, more houses will be listed, and they will finalise on a house within a week. After they select the houses, the pictures will be sent to Siddramaiah and a few leaders, he said, adding that Siddaramaiah's son Dr Yathindra will probably perform a puja of the new house in January-end or the first week of February with the family.

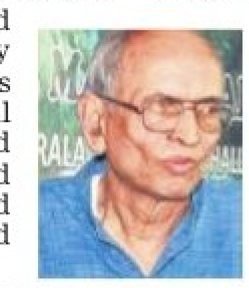
Gadgil favours culling of tigers, bats for licensed hunting

K S SREEJITH @T'Puram

FOREST Minister A K Saseendran, who caught the tiger by its tail for suggesting culling of the big cats in Wayanad as a remedy for human-animal conflicts, found an unexpected friend on Wednesday in noted environmentalist Madhav Gadgil.

Gadgil, the chairman of the Western Ghats Ecology Expert panel, favoured the idea and suggested there should be licensed hunting outside India's national parks.

"India is the lone country having a legislation for protecting wild animals. I think it is irrational, foolish, unconstitutional and nothing to be proud of. No other country protects wild animals outside of its national parks," Gadgil told TNIE. As for licensed hunting, he said it did not lead to a drop in wild animal population.



"The body of animals should be given to local people as compensation for their sufferings. In the US, Africa and Britain, people shoot wild animals. Rational hunting is implemented even in Scandinavian countries. The Ministry of Environment and Forest should hold talks with the local community on how many wild animals should be culled. The licence should be given properly," he said.

He then asked: "When a human is found to be a threat, necessary action is taken as per relevant sections of the IPC. Then why not kill a wild animal if it poses a threat to your life?"

Gadgil also demanded scrapping of the Wildlife Protection Act (WPA), 1972, and bringing in a new legislation. "A decentralised management plan should be implemented down to the ground level. India should implement the Biodiversity Act, 2002 which gives empowers local people to protect local biodiversity," he said.

Calling environmentalists who were against culling as anti-people conservationists, Gadgil said, "Their stance is anti-people and completely undemocratic," he said.

Meanwhile, forest officials said since tigers are included in the Schedule 1 of the WPA, the government should consider their rehabilitation to other sanctuaries and national parks where they are fewer in number. "Kerala can approach the Rajasthan government since the Sariska National Park can accommodate a few tigers. Other states may also be interested," a chief conservator of forest told TNIE.

However, many environmentalists opposed the idea of culling and blamed the major characteristic changes that occurred in the forests in Wayand over the years for the disaster.

"The Wayanad wildlife sanctuary, north and south division, has very little forest cover," said an environmentalist. "In Muthumalai, Bandipur, Nagarhole and Brahmagiri forests and parks, the forest has become drier. Water scarcity has also become acute. So, tigers usually come to Wayanad as it is the only place that has water and is suitable for their survival," he said, adding that rehabilitating a tiger is not an option as it will lead to confrontation between the big cats over territory, prey and mating.

HAIR RAISING

Burglars flee with Rs 2.45L temple hair

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Rajamahendravaram

UNIDENTIFIED persons stole more than 75 kg human hair from the Kalyanakatta of the famous Dwaraka Tirumala temple in Eluru district. The value of the stolen hair is said to be nearly ₹2.45 lakh.

According to police, the miscreants gained entry into the Kalyanakatta,a place where the devotees get tonsured to fullfill their vows, and decamped with hair of women offered to temple.

Dwaraka Tirumala sub-inspector of police Sudheer said the burglars took the hair kept in tins. "They broke open the locks of the tins and took away the hair," the SI said.

The barbers who attended the morning duty on Tuesday noticed the missing of hair from the tins and filed a compliant to the temple committee.

Following a complaint by the temple management, the police registered a case of theft and started investigation. In the footage from the CCTVs that were installed near the Kalyanakatta, police found two masked man enter the premises and straight away went to the tins in which the hair of women were kept. "It gives us suspicion that some persons who are aware of where the women hair is kept is behind the theft,'' police sources said.

Human hair, particularly those of women, fetch good amount and is used for manufacturing wigs.

Indo-France naval exercise under way

KCR AND PALS PUT ON GLOVES TO TAKE ON BJP

Give call to boot out divisive BJP, stress on need for change at Centre

V V BALAKRISHNA @Hyderabad

TWO months after the launch of Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS), party supremo K Chandrasekhar Rao succeeded in bringing "like-minded non-BJP and non-Congress leaders" -- three chief ministers and two Opposition leaders on one platform -- to take on the "anti-people" policies of the BJP.

As a mammoth crowd cheered him on at the Khammam public meeting, Rao, flanked by his chief minister counterparts of New Delhi, Punjab and Kerala and Left party leaders, elaborated upon his agenda for a better India.

Emphasizing upon the need to "boot out the divisive BJP", Rao, Arvind Kejriwal, Bhagwant Singh Mann, Pinarayi Vijayan and former UP chief minister Akhilesh Singh Yadav took turns to explain to the crowd the need for a change at the Centre.

The bonhomie among the leaders appeared to indicate a possible alliance at the national level. Khammam, a district which is known for its secular, leftist leanings, seemed to form the ideal backdrop for the fervent appeals of the leaders against "religious sectarianism" which they said was the BJP's only philosophy.

While Rao spoke of ending water wars and improving the lot of farmers by taking his schemes like free power and Rythu Bandhu to a national platform, Vijayan described the meeting as a new beginning where like-minded people and parties would fight to topple the BJP.

Blaming both the Congress and the BJP for the present-day problems of the country, the BRS chief said that if BRS is voted to power it would implement Dalit Bandhu, Mission Bhagiratha, Rythu Bandhu and other schemes of Telangana across the country. "We will provide free power to tillers across the country like in Telangana. It will cost around ₹1.45 lakh crore per year. We will also nationalise the Visakhapatnam Steel Factory, if it is sold by the Narendra Modi government," Rao declared.

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal said that people who had voted for BJP twice at the Centre were now vexed with Prime Minister Narendra Modi. They were now waiting for 2024 to replace the BJP, he insisted.

Attacking the BJP, Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan said: "The country's sovereignty, secularism, democracy and socialism are under threat."

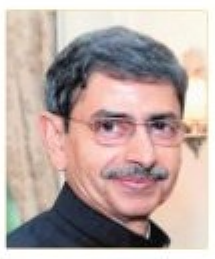
Former chief minister of Uttar Pradesh Akhilesh Yadav said that the BJP government at Delhi had only 400 days more to rule. "After 400 days, the BJP government will not be there at the Centre," Yadav said.

'Referred to TN as Tamizhagam in cultural context'

S KUMARESAN @ Chennai

FOLLOWING the controversy over his 'Tamilagam' remark, Governor RN Ravi on Wednesday said he had referred to the state as 'Tamizhagam' only in historical and cultural context and construing it as his suggestion to change the name of Tamil Nadu is 'erroneous' and 'far-fetched.'

"In those days, there was no 'Tamil Nadu'. I referred to the word 'Tamizhagam' as a more appropriate expression. Without understanding the basis of my speech, arguments that the governor is against the word 'Tamil Nadu' have become a topic of discussion. Hence, I am giving this clarification to put an end to it," said the statement issued by the Raj Bhavan on Wednesday.



The statement came on a day when the governor left for Delhi for the second time in a week. A DMK delegation last week met President Droupati Murmu and handed over a letter sent by CM MK Stalin expressing disappointment over the actions of the governor, including the changes he made to the governor's address.

The Raj Bhavan's statement evoked sharp reactions from leaders of the DMK alliance as they argued that 'Tamil Nadu' has been in use since the Sangam age.

DMK's propaganda secretary T Sabapathi Mohan told TNIE, "He is again misleading the people. The word Tamil Nadu has been in use for more than 2,000 years. Our founder CN Annadurai spoke about it in the Rajya Sabha when Bubesh Gupta, a CPI member, brought a private member bill to rename the Madras state as Tamil Nadu. Even after the discussions being held in the state for the last two weeks over his comment, if the governor is again saying that there is no Tamil Nadu, it means he wants to cheat the people of Tamil Nadu."

CPM MP Su Venkatesan in a tweet took a dig at the governor for claiming that the word 'Tamil Nadu' was not there in "those days". The MP tweeted, "Tamil Nadu was absent only in the Pongal festival invitation sent by him. Otherwise, Tamil Nadu has been there forever."

Politicos vent ire as air services to Belagavi hit, dozen flights stopped

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE stoppage of a dozen flights connecting Belagavi with various important locations has upset many politicians and bureaucrats, especially with election season approaching. Belagavi is easily the most important district after Bengaluru, with 18 assembly segments.

Khanapur MLA Anjali Nimbalkar told TNIE, "Everyone is angry. While one Central minister is taking up the cause of Hubballi-Dharwad, no one is taking up Belagavi. MP Mangala Angadi tried to do something but didn't succeed. Perhaps it is being neglected because of the border issue."

For those travelling to Khanapur, Chikkodi, Athani, Raibag, Gokak or Hukkeri, or the many politically important locations in Belagavi district, the airport is crucial. MLAs, MLCs, MPs and even former representatives regularly use flights, especially during the winter legislative session.

Belagavi airport provides easy connectivity to politicians from southern constituencies, who fly to Bengaluru and take the road to their respective destinations.

Considering it is a straight fight between the Congress and BJP in most constituencies in Belagavi, both parties need to rework their logistics as political activity is likely to start hotting up. Belagavi's loss, though, is now Hubballi-Dharwad's gain.

It is not politicians and bureaucrat who feel the pinch, but businessmen and industrialists who have expressed their displeasure. When air connectivity is expanding across the developing world, this trimming of services is bound to be challenged.

"If the Modi government had not brought in Udaan Yojana, both Belagavi and Hubballi airports would have just ended up as showpieces in an exhibition. There are bound to be ups and downs since they are operated by private players with commercial interests. However, they will sort themselves out in the long run, said MLA and former CM Jagadish Shettar.

BIRDERS' HAVEN

In hornbill land, it is a road to eco-disaster

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Dandeli (Uttara Kannada)

THE Timber Depot in Dandeli, which has been a hub for bird lovers, tourists and wildlife photographers, will soon be a thing of the past as the forest department is building roads at places where rare, protected hornbills bathe in mud. The controversy has erupted at a time, ironically, when the Hornbill Festival is being organised after a gap of two years.

The Timber Depot, which is part of the hornbill conservation reserve that was declared in 2011, may lose its unique position as the most-sought-after place to sight these majestic birds. The forest department is now building a road, but destroying areas that are home to common grey, Malabar grey, Malabar pied and great pied hornbills.

A road being constructed in the Timber Depot in Dandeli | RAHUL BAVAJI

The L-shaped reserve starts from Supa dam and extends up to the Kali river near Mavlangi village. The Timber Depot houses many birds and wildlife, like spotted deer, wild boars, jackals, arboreals like Malabar giant squirrel and over a 100 species of birds, making it one of the most biologically diverse areas in the country.

HORNBILL FESTIVAL

The Hornbill Festival has been scheduled on February 11 and 12. The event has been organised after a gap of three years. The festival was put off earlier due to Covid restrictions.

"One of the favourite places is where hornbills take the mud bath. Unfortunately, the road construction here will put an end to this spot," said Rahul Bavaji, a wildlife activist.

The Timber Depot which was free for all became paid in 2020 with the forest department assuring basic facilities to visitors. But the situation started worsening after the area became commercial. The use of machinery and earthmovers made matters worse. But surprisingly, the bird life continued as the habitat was conducive. "Despite all the commotion, the place is ideal for the birds as it has fruit-bearing trees and isolated places for mud bathing. But this mud bathing spot will be gone and the birds may migrate away from here. Two rare and protected species, great pied hornbill and Malabar pied hornbill – which are the mascot of Dandeli and Kali Tiger Reserve, may abandon this habitat," he said.

He demanded that the department stop the construction of the road immediately and also remove it from places where it has already been laid.

Conservator of Forests Uttara Kannada Vasanth Reddy said the department has just repaired the existing roads and that he will enquire with the Haliyal DCF about roads being constructed at places where the birds mud bathe.

ECO-MESS SOUNDING ALARM BELLS IN THE WESTERN GHATS

The disaster unfolding in Joshimath was waiting to happen, sooner rather than later, given the untrammelled development, deforestation and tunnelling for roads and power projects. The story of Joshimath in Uttarakhand is not restricted to the Himalayas, degradation is visible in the Eastern and Western Ghats and other mountain ranges too. The Western Ghats, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, has lost over 20,000 hectares of rainforest over the past two decades. Environmental experts have already sounded alarm bells on the frequent landslides and floods in Kerala, and more recently Kodagu, where entire villages were swallowed up as land parcels were displaced. Each monsoon signals climate change and there is large-scale displacement of wildlife forced out of shrinking habitats. The main causes are mining, sand quarrying, building of roads and tourism projects. The authorities continue to sanction projects and the development lobby rides roughshod over rules and clearances. The environment-livelihood quarrel continues, with the government having rejected the Kasturirangan report which proposes 37% of the Ghats should be declared eco-sensitive.

A new worry for Karnataka is the degradation of Nandi Hills, a tourism hotspot in Bengaluru's backyard, and home to resorts and tony housing projects. Farmers are selling out to realtors, who are building holiday homes in the foothills. The government has planned a ropeway project to attract more tourists, and sanctioned the construction of a spiritual centre by Isha Foundation on 10 acres of land. Locals unhappy with the large-scale deforestation say it will affect natural rainwater flow, and have taken the Foundation to court. It is said to be in contravention of the Thippagondanahalli Ordinance 2004. Two monsoons ago, there was a landslip in the Brahmagiri range, and the road to Nandi was washed away. It was the first such eco-disaster here, the result of illegal sand mining and clearing of forests.

Instead of paying heed to ecologists, the government has accelerated degeneration by giving a boost to religious tourism, the new money-spinner. The irony today is that Nandi Hills, once the origin of six rivers and drinking water source for Bengaluru, now faces an acute shortage of water, and there are plans to pump treated water from the city to the hills.

GOVT MUST ACT TO END FILM INSTITUTE ROW

Kerala's K R Narayanan National Institute of Visual Science and Arts, named after the first Dalit president of India, has been on the boil for some time. A majority of the students and a few staff members of the state-run film institute have come out against its director Shankar Mohan, who happens to be the former director of the Kolkata film institute. They have raised many allegations against the current administration, including caste discrimination and deliberate attempts to undermine the reservation in admissions. While an office staffer has approached the SC/ST Commission, the casual sweepers have moved the Women's Commission, complaining of discrimination by the director's wife. Several new-generation filmmakers like Rajeev Ravi and Aashiq Abu and actors have extended solidarity to the protesting students and have supported their demand to remove the director. With regular classes getting affected, the students have even started organising parallel classes where new-generation filmmakers take classes for them.

Renowned filmmaker Adoor Gopalakrishnan, the institute's chairman, also drew flak for publicly backing the director while categorically rejecting all allegations of caste discrimination. The celebrated director has alleged a deliberate attempt by some disgruntled elements in the institute to sabotage its operation.

The situation at the institute has been allowed to drift far too long. The government must act now and decisively. The students' complaints, if genuine, need to be addressed. Caste-based discrimination should not be tolerated. At the same time, the authorities must consider all aspects of the issue before taking action. Adoor and Shankar Mohan are experienced film professionals, and their views also need to be considered to ensure an unbiased resolution. The ongoing social media trial, primarily targeting Adoor, does in no way augur well for a progressive society like Kerala. The government-appointed commission led by former chief secretary K Jayakumar to look into the issue has reportedly found some merit in the students' complaints. The students have written an open letter to Adoor flagging alleged casteism, indicating they are in the mood to stand down. With CPM leaders throwing their weight behind the filmmaker and thus indirectly backing the administration led by Shankar Mohan, the situation is heading towards an impasse. That should be avoided at any cost. Putting all considerations aside, the government must act in the interest of the film institute and its students.

QUICK TAKE

DYING WITH DIGNITY

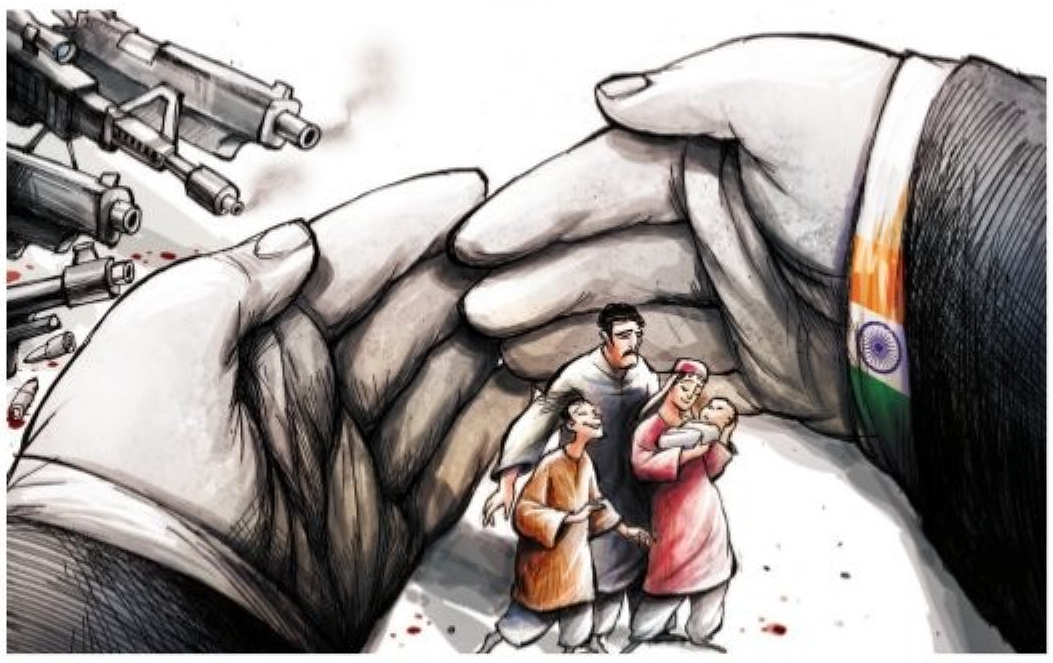
The Supreme Court will simplify the medico-legal process for passive euthanasia of terminally ill patients who sign 'live wills' choosing the option. The current process under the court's verdict of 2018 is complicated and time-consuming. The court should also consider a legal protocol for patients without 'live wills' and where decisions on continuing or terminating life are out of their hands. Family members generally permit withdrawal of the life support system once the doctor declares the patient brain dead. The protocol should confirm that medically irreversible status and not extraneous non-medical factors influence the decision to end the patient's life.

The real challenge lies in the political field; a consensus appears unlikely, but 2023 could well be the year of political manoeuvring in J&K to conduct elections in 2024

THE MEANING OF JAMMU AND KASHMIR FLARE-UPS

LT GEN SYED ATA HASNAIN (RETD)

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps. Now Chancellor, Central University



SOUMYADIP SINHA

As internal and proxy conflicts fade into activity levels well below perceptions of threshold danger, the tendency is to start ignoring them. On the first day of the new year, violence returned and that, too, to the south of Pir Panjal, confirming Jammu and Kashmir's proxy war is not over. Nor has it dipped to levels where it can be ignored, assuming that only the political process is left to be completed.

In 1996 when the Government of India decided to conduct elections, return J&K to democracy and reintroduce the political process, the expectations were clear that it would be a long, arduous climb to normalcy. Since then, it's been a long and challenging period of 26 years.

The decisions of August 5, 2019, were momentous and brave because a transformation was needed. We were all extremely positive, as we remain even today, that the decisions will finally lead to a stronger integrative process and a full and final integration of J&K.

The part about the return of PoK remains an important element but in the current context is essentially an addendum awaiting final achievement. Given this situation, we have to accept that Pakistan, which invested heavily in building networks, altering ideology and creating various other means of bringing mayhem to the environment, has not given up.

Internally for Pakistan, J&K remains an issue through which power politics is played, and the Pakistan Army finds it the best tool to use.

Its pushback, therefore, is essential for two reasons; first, the necessity for Pakistan to keep the Kashmir issue alive to reap the benefit of what it has invested.

Second, to keep India's resources interminably committed to fighting a counter-proxy war campaign in an out-of-proportion mode. Pakistan could have withdrawn its proxy campaign, accepted the reality that defeating India through a violent irregular campaign would not be possible, and focused on its internal schisms and instabilities. That would be rational behaviour.

However, rationality has never been part of Pakistan's strategic thinking, and its confidence appears to stem from the very crucial geostrategic location it occupies in relation to Central Asia, China, India, the Indian Ocean, Iran and the Gulf region. Here the situation remains dynamic at the best of times, and new opportunities could arise without warning. That is exactly what Pakistan predicts and appreciates, and would therefore like to tactically recoil while keeping slow fires burning, awaiting a situation which works in its favour. Recent regional events reinforce its belief, especially the US turnaround to support Pakistan.

In addition to the US decision to positively review its relationship with Pakistan, three things appear to keep Pakistan positively inclined towards believing that opportunities will come its way if it plays out the interim period with patience.

First is the festering situation in Afghanistan, which Pakistan believes will offer unpredictable opportunities for it to steer the situation as per its interests; the fallout of most security situations there is in South Asia as a whole.

Second is the belief that the Kashmiris are not satisfied with the decisions of August 5, 2019, and are only projecting false happiness.

The third is another abiding belief that India's Punjab offers ample opportunities that Pakistan has yet not exploited. Much unlike our belief that Punjab's insurgency ended in the early Nineties because the people of Punjab defeated it, Pakistan believes that it pulled out of India's Punjab because of the opportunities which simultaneously arose in J&K. Handling both J&K and Punjab in the Nineties was perceived as something far beyond Pakistan's capability. That belief may have changed today, and Pakistan is much more confident of handling both because of the experience gained through Operation Zarb-e-Azb (2014–18) and the Balochistan insurgency, although both were about countering rather than supporting insurgencies and terror.

Whatever China's intent at the Sino-Indian borders, it will be aided in no small way by the instability at the western borders of India. Drone flights to fly in military wherewithal and currency, narcotics networks, and other logistics into Punjab is a way of building up resources, although India's BSF has successfully shot down many drones in December 2022 alone.

Being witness to the situation in Ukraine, China is probably having serious misgivings about its conventional warfighting capability and victory potential; any and every aid that comes to its assistance in conflict situations with India will be welcome; that is, since a victory against the Indian Armed Forces cannot be taken for granted. This is what Pakistan will exploit to the hilt—its own potential to act as the X factor.

The ceasefire at the LoC may have held well since February 25, 2021, but that is a projection of the will to pursue peace, a kind of ploy.

In actuality, Pakistan will pursue its interests through diverse means even if it has to scrounge the last rupee from the bottom of its empty barrel in the face of a serious economic crisis. It knows that small actions are unlikely to draw out a serious response, which India had demonstrated with the Surgical Strikes and Balakote under its new doctrine.

Pakistan's actions will remain pinpricks at best, which project the campaign as being alive, prevent India from redeploying its forces (much to China's liking) due to inherent threats of revival pictured by frequent actions such as minority targeting using hybrid terrorists, and thus maintain only a threshold level of violence.

The latter would also prevent an easy course towards political activity involving elections and the restoration of democracy. In the face of all this, it's not easy for the Union government to take decisions on the future of politics in J&K.

2023 is likely no different from 2022, with spurts of violence occurring at intervals. The real challenge lies in the political field; a consensus appears unlikely, but 2023 could well be the year of political manoeuvring in J&K to find a way to conduct elections in 2024.

Pakistan will also attempt to prevent this from happening to retain its relevance and await another opportunity sometime later. The proxy war in J&K is far from over, and our approach needs to remain proactive—neutralise Pakistan's ability to interfere, endeavour to wrest back PoK, restore governance of the highest quality, and play a professionally worked out campaign to bring Kashmir's citizens further into the mainstream. Much of it is happening, which is why it is making Pakistan intensely uncomfortable, forcing it to execute acts that could well be devoid of thought.

OIL: STEALTH AND VALUATION

RANJAN TANDON

Senior Markets Specialist and author

Oil is like a wild animal, whoever captures it has it."— J Paul Getty. Most of the time, it's economics that determines the price of oil, but often the price defines the economics. The volatility of our times lends its texture to the nature of oil economics. Studies and interpretations have fallen flat on occasion. And, of course, few adventitiously close to price predictions have a trail-following like the pied piper, just to vanish in the next cycle gone awry.

2020 was a downhill race for oil prices, ushering a more sober scenario in late 2021, followed by post-Covid blues in early 2022. And then came the Russian invasion, sending the bears undercover.

On May 11, Ukraine limited Russian gas transiting its territory to Europe, followed by the sanctions imposed by the European Community. On May 18, the EU announced a 210 billion euro plan to ditch all Russian fossil fuel, and oil prices continued to inch northward.

The principles of demand and supply are not the sole bearers of pricing. Greed and political motivations are equally notorious for playing up the oil scene.

Wars have been fought for oil and over oil fields as far back as the Dutch East Indies campaign of 1941–42 (now Indonesia) to the ongoing civil unrest in Yemen around the Marib and Shabwa provinces.

The opening up of China, the world's largest consumer of oil, and a cap on Russian prices, could keep the oil prices floating above $75. As far as the recession is concerned, it seems already discounted in the prices, which leaves room for an uphill tread.

China reopening, a mild recession, renewed spending on transportation, travel and vacationing by the three largest consumers, i.e., the US, China and India (in that order), and a cap on OPEC production, makes a bullish scenario more likely. This could bring Brent back to the $100 range and WTI (West Texas Intermediate) trail around $95. These average prices may be maintained through 2023.

Two kinds of oil are primarily traded in the market:

Brent Crude originally referred to the sweet light crude oil extracted from the Brent Oilfield in the North Sea, exhausted by the turn of 2021 and consequent induction of other oil fields around this Atlantic basin, a price determinant for almost two-thirds of the world oil trade.

WTI, also known as the Texas light sweet, originated from the US and is considered lighter and sweeter with sulphur content lower than Brent. Together the two form benchmarks for global pricing and trading of oil. OPEC, holding 80% of the world's oil reserves, 40% share in world oil production and 60% share in world oil trade, dominates as a key supplier.

File picture

> The world of oil is a kaleidoscope, fascinating and ever-changing. Complex as it may seem, oil pricing is not just the outcome of an economic graph based on the simple interaction of supply and demand or world politics and sentiment of the tangibility of a physical product alone

However, the role of the US has evolved in the last decade as it is estimated to become a net exporter in 2023 for the first time since World War II. Oil production is often increased or reduced for reasons other than economic, resulting in a shortage or a glut. These are more of 'motivated' price fluctuations.

Within this ambit, it would be interesting to note that nature has contributed its own towards the supply factor. The shadow of natural calamities looms large on the price scenario. Hurricane Ian led to the evacuation of 12 platforms and two rigs in the Gulf of Mexico last September, which brought about a fall of almost 11% of US oil production per day from this region and a spike in the price of WTI.

With the world moving towards economic expansion and higher spending patterns, oil demand continues to grow. A symbiotic price rise is inevitable. Though renewables are touted as an alternate energy source, their economic viability remains under the cloud. Renewables continue to be much dearer than conventional hydrocarbons. Till the pricing and government policies are revisited, crude would continue to enjoy a comparative advantage.

Rising commodity and stock prices have historically, on occasion, led to rising oil prices. Commodities and stocks have started moving upward, breaking the trend of lacklustre performance in the last two years. As the economies expand, a sense of euphoria permeates, increasing broader market participation. Investors empirically establish long positions.

This, in turn, creates a higher oil demand fuelled by optimism translating into price rise. The reverse holds good in times of doom. A perceived fall in aggregate demand and a sense of uncertainty lead to squaring off positions, pushing prices down.

Political or military unrest within the Middle East or one of the oil-producing nations has price ramifications. The 1991 Gulf War, the US invasion of Iraq in 2003, protracted Soviet aggression in Afghanistan, Trump exiting the Iran Nuclear deal in 2018 and, in recent times, Russia invading Ukraine, are all examples. Military adventurism (as seen in Libya), terrorist attacks at refineries leading to supply disruptions, or pricing rivalry to undermine stability are other factors. Such events tend to unveil insidiously, gradually getting factored into the price.

The world of oil is a kaleidoscope, fascinating and ever-changing. Complex as it may seem, oil pricing is not just the outcome of an economic graph based on the simple interaction of supply and demand or world politics and sentiment of the tangibility of a physical product alone. It also manifests as the fruit of speculative activities in Oil Futures and Options markets, sometimes revolving around the broad commodity market spectrum and mood.

No matter what the prices are and what determines them, oil shall continue to enjoy its dominance for a long time.

I am reminded of John Maynard Keynes: "There is nothing so disastrous as a rational investment in an irrational world."

Power of language

Apropos of To 'Sir' without love, and the new ChatGPT language (Jan 18). C P Surendran presents a unique view on the direction of our society. We are increasingly becoming intolerant and quick to take offense. However, language has the power to bridge divides and make those who have previously been excluded feel included. Isn't that the least we can do?

NGOs work for the good

Apropos of Restoring the third sector's credibility (Jan 18). It is interesting as Vinay Sahasrabuddhe has spoken about the role of NGOs: "...their credibility seems to be going south." NGOs work for the profit of the poor, and what is wrong, as the author points out, to be ultra-professional and business-like? Some NGOs serve in conflict-ridden countries, risking lives to serve. For India to focus on restoring third sector credibility is misplaced.

Apropos of Congress promises ₹2k a month to K'taka women (Jan 17). Giving freebies to voters is a trend in Indian politics. Instead of this, more emphasis should be made to empower women. Food poisoning has become quite common. That many people were poisoned after eating at a hotel in Paravur, Ernakulam, is not an isolated incident. Asking the hotel management to close their hotel for a period of time won't do any good. There should be legislation to ensure that hotels are clean.

WAVES TAKE AWAY A BIG SLICE OF TN COASTLINE

2 districts risk losing 60% of coastline, while beaches in 5 southern districts are also in danger, according to satellite data-based study

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA @Chennai

DISAPPEARING BEACHES

As the Bay of Bengal continues to swallow huge swathes of land once part of the seashore and pristine beaches on India's east coast, Tamil Nadu is among the worst affected states. It has 'permanently' lost 1,802 hectares of inland area to the gigantic sea waves at 22 locations, identified as 'erosion hotspots', according to the latest shoreline changes assessment report by the National Centre for Coastal Research (NCCR), an arm of Ministry of Earth Sciences.

Some of these hotspots where long tracts of seashore that have vanished are located near Chennai. Districts such as Tiruvallur and Kancheepuram have about eight such locations out of the total 22.

A deeper analysis of the NCCR study, which was based on satellite data acquired from 1990 to 2018, paints a grim picture: nearly 60% of the 125 km of coastline of these two districts is facing an immense loss of land. In Kancheepuram, 51 km out of 84.41 km of the coast is facing an onslaught of the sea while 18 km out of 40.97 km in Tiruvallur is under threat.

Experts are dismayed at the pace at which the beaches are doing a Houdini act. Protecting the beaches in this region is crucial as districts such as Kancheepuram are boosted with fresh water coastal aquifers that are critical for region's water security. Chennai's 20% drinking water requirement is met by groundwater.

L Elango, professor and head of Department of Geology at Anna University, told this newspaper that coastal aquifers have become vulnerable. "Tamil Nadu is lucky to have nice quaternary sandy deposits all along its coast. The narrow strip of beach between Buckingham Canal and sea from Thiruvanmiyur in Chennai till Puducherry is an excellent fresh water aquifer sucking and holding almost 60-70% of rainfall. Erosion would trigger seawater intrusion that would adversely its functionality."

Scientists say the estimated land loss due to erosion between 1990 and 2018 in Kancheepuram is around 186 hectares. The NCCR officials said satellite imagery up to 2022 has been acquired and the study will be updated after geoprocessing the shorelines.

In Tamil Nadu, the delta and southern districts like Nagapattinam, Thiruvarur, Ramanathapuram, Thoothukudi and Kanyakumari are also losing precious beaches. Ramanathapuram has lost 413 hectares of beach area, highest in the state.

What is the cause?

Sea levels along almost the entire Indian coast are rising faster than the global average, according to the World Meteorological Organization's State of the Global Climate in 2021 report, which was released on May 18, 2022. In India, the east coast is exposed to high erosion hotspots compared to the west coast. The shoreline assessment report says the area under erosion is increasing 3 metres per year in east coast and 2.5 metres per year in west coast. The reason for the problem is multi-fold. Climate change is causing sea levels to rise and triggering extreme weather events, which lead to natural erosion. This apart, the anthropogenic activities like construction of ports, dams and anti-erosion hard structures have aggravated or shift the problem to new areas.

NCCR director MV Ramana Murthy said the erosion in north coastal districts of TN is due to sediment imbalance. "Climate change-induced sea level rise and extreme weather events are a major factor. Besides, the littoral drift, which is sand coming from delta region has significantly reduced after several dams were constructed and hard structures like ports breakwaters and groynes were built. To minimise the impact, it is important that we maintain the sand budget correctly. One thing that can be done is use the dredged sand from ports for the beach nourishment in eroding stretches, rather than dumping it in the deep sea."

Erosion in delta and southern coastal districts was also partly due to change in monsoon cycle, according to him.

Supriya Sahu, additional chief secretary, environment, forests and climate change, said the state government through its Tamil Nadu Climate Change Mission will undertake measures to address the problem. "We will carry out massive palmyra planting on vulnerable stretches. These trees act as bio-shield, preventing soil erosion and increasing mangrove cover." She said the option of using dredged sand from ports will also be explored.

Green activists believe the problem is human-induced, and blame it on the ports and breakwaters. "Erosion makes local communities vulnerable to cyclonic storms, and salinity intrusion threatens agricultural and groundwater security. What the government calls development (ports) and erosion control (groynes and breakwaters) make a bad situation worse," says Chennai-based environmentalist Nityanand Jayaraman.

SIMI's aim of realising Islamic rule can't be permitted: Centre tells SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

JUSTIFYING the ban imposed on Students Islamic Movement of India (SIMI), the Centre has told the Supreme Court that the outfit is against Indian Constitution, including its secular nature, and works to replace it with an Islamic order.

"Their stated objectives are contrary to the laws of our country. Especially their object of establishing Islamic rule in India can, under no circumstances, be permitted to subsist," said the affidavit, filed by an under secretary in the Ministry of Home Affairs.

"The 'constitution' of SIMI in sum and substance not only disclaims, questions, and intends to disrupt the sovereignty and integrity of our country; but also cause disaffection against India and the Constitution of India. Furthermore, the objects as mentioned in the constitution of SIMI are liable to be qualified as offences under sections 153A and 153B of the IPC," the affidavit states.

The government's response has been filed in a plea challenging the September 27, 2019 order passed by the UAPA Tribunal in which the tribunal confirmed the declaration of SIMI as an unlawful association under the UAPA.

Denying allegations of SIMI being deprived of fundamental right, the affidavit states that Centre's opinion is based on grounds that SIMI is knownto be indulging in activities which are prejudicial to the integrity and security of the country.

"SIMI continues to indulge in unlawful activities causing a serious threat to the internal security of the country. In this regard various intelligence inputs received, further establishes that SIMI has been continuing its activities throughout the country," the affidavit states. The Centre has further stated that SIMI, since the ban, is carrying out its activities under cover organisations in several states.

"SIMI aims to mobilise youth in the propagation of Islam and obtain support for Jihad. It also emphasises on the formation of 'Shariat' based Islamic rule through 'Islami Inqalab'," the affidavit states.

The order was passed in the plea preferred by PIL activist BG Varghese and lyricist Javed Akhtar seeking probe in the fake encounters. The report had recommended prosecution of police officials in three out of 17 cases probed.

Verdict on GNCTD transfers reserved

After an extensive hearing of almost five days, five judge constitution bench of the Supreme Court on Wednesday reserved verdict in case involving dispute between centre and GNCTD over power and transfer of bureaucrats serving GNCTD belong to All India Services. Although the bench comprising the CJI, reserved orders but the bench during the hearing was taken aback on centre seeking reference of the issue to larger bench in view of SCs 2018 verdict at the fag end of hearing.

INDIGO PLANE

Surya opened exit door, said sorry: Scindia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

ENDING all speculations amidst political rants attacks, the Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia revealed that it was Tejasvi Surya the BJP MP from Karnataka who opened the emergency exit of an IndiGo flight last month.

Conforming it was Surya who opened the emergency door on the flight from Chennai to Tiruchirapally on December 10 last year, Scindia said that he opened the aircraft door "by mistake" and apologised for it.

"It's important not to be circumspect. Look at the facts. The door did open by mistake, all checks were taken and only after that the plane was allowed to take off," Scindia said.

IndiGo, had informed the DGCA that on December 10, a passenger had accidentally opened the emergency exit of its flight at Chennai airport during the boarding process.

The airline, without naming Surya, said that the passenger "rested his hand on the door", unlocking the exit. The passenger apologised; the Indigo had noted in the communication, adding that the flight was delayed by over two hours after stringent engineering checks.

Day after PM's advice, BJP gears up to get closer to Pasmandas

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

A day after Prime Minister Narendra Modi asked the BJP cadre to reach out to the Pasmanda Muslim and Bohra communities, the party has started working in the direction, ahead of the Lok Sabha elections.

To begin with, the areas having a substantial population of the two communities across India will be visited by BJP functionaries for 'interaction-cum-dialogue' programmes. "The party is already reaching out to Pasmanda Muslims and has carried out many programmes in Uttar Pradesh and other states. Now, the need is to associate them with the party, giving organisational responsibility initially at local level," a BJP leader said.

The Pasmanda community, which is lagging in terms of development as compared to non-Pasmanda Muslims, comprises 70-80% of total Muslim population in India. They are largely present in UP, Bihar, Bengal, Jharkhand, MP, Chhattisgarh, Gujarat, Karnataka, Telangana and Maharashtra.

"The BJP is finalising the strategy with experts after conducting research on their economic and educational condition. The programme will make them aware of their rights and the government's schemes formulated for their upliftment," said a source in the BJP.

The strategy will also involve women and young leaders of the BJP interacting with the two communities. It is likely to gain pace district-first in the poll-bound states after mid-February. Sources added that the government may consider launching schemes aimed at educating the Pasmanda Muslims.

"PM has asked us to reach out to them without having pollconsiderations. We would make them aware of BJP's policies, which are not against them at all," said a BJP leader. "To win the trust of marginalised groups, we need to meet their prominent members and know their issues and expectations from the government. Our programme will focus on that," he added. The party will also reach out to the Bohras in Gujarat. "They will be acquainted with BJP's policy and urged to join if they are convinced with its nation-first policy," an ex-MP said.

Former BSF DG named as new Dy NSA

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

PANKAJ KUMAR SINGH, former Director General of the Border Security Force has been appointed as the deputy National Security Advisor in National Security Council Secretariat for two years.

According to the order released on January 15, Singh has been appointed for the post on a re-employment contract, which is valid for two year and is to come into effect from the date he assumes the charge as Dy NSA, or until further orders, whichever is earlier.

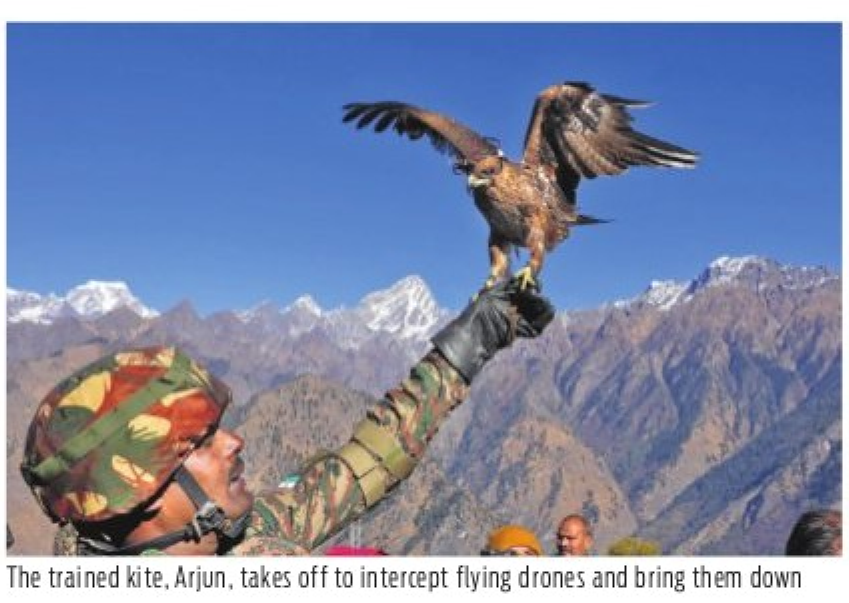
Kites to dogs, how forces tackle enemy drones

AMIT MUKHERJEE @New Delhi

ON May 29, 2022, the J&K police picked up the buzz of a drone at odd hours in Rajbagh of Kathua district. They spotted it and shot it down on suspicion. The six-propellor Korean-made drone (hex copter) had a 7.5 kg payload attached to it. It was carrying seven magnetic bombs and seven Under Barrel Grenade Launchers, local police said, adding it had come from across the Pak border and was assigned to terror operatives already positioned in India.

About 311 drones were sighted in 2022 — a three-fold increase in number over last year along the 3,323 km Indo-Pak border area of J&K, Punjab, Rajasthan and Gujarat with terror and drug cartels trying to push in narcotics and arms into India. But the border patrolling agencies, police and the military are yet to find an effective countermeasure to address these security threats.



The trained kite, Arjun, takes off to intercept flying drones and bring them down

They are still exploring effective multiple means to intercept and capture enemy drones and rogue UAVs.

Though many drones were withdrawn by Pakistani handles after being spotted and many were shot down by the security personnel with several kg of heroin, grenades, ammunition and arms recovered from them; apprehension is that many might have gone unnoticed. In one of the instances in June 2021 the Indian Air Force only went alert after the bombs dropped by suspected rogue drones, went off in the technical area of Jammu Air Force Station. The intention was to target strategic IAF assets.

Though India is exploring the deployment of anti-drone countermeasures, it will be a herculean challenge to make the border rouge drone-proof.

"It's impossible to track and shoot down every drone along the frontier," said an officer.

"Even shooting down a drone is not always successful," says an officer who recently retired from the services.

Securing the Pakistan border with anti-drone technology is a costly proposition. Though various technologies are being tested, effective interception to capture drones in intact forms — to analyse data and gather proof of terror plots — are yet to be put in place.

The Indian Army has tried out an ingenious "dog and kite combo". As the trained canine with sharp senses picks up even the faint buzz of a distant invisible drone, the trained kite takes off to intercept the flying object and bring it down.

Survey: School shutdowns during Covid hurt students' learning ability

AMIT PANDEY @New Delhi

PROLONGED school shutdowns due to Covid-19 have set students back by over 10 years in terms of their basic reading and maths skills, a new survey showed. According to the Annual Status of Education Report (ASER)-2022, children's basic reading ability is down to pre-2012 levels and their maths skills to 2018 levels.

"The percentage of children in Class 3 in government or private schools who can read at Class 2 level dropped from 27.3% in 2018 to 20.5% in 2022," the survey said. Similarly, the percentage of 5th grade students who can at least read a text at the Class 2 level, dropped from 50.5% to 42.8%.

Notably, states that had higher reading levels in 2018 witnessed a sharp decline in 2022 with Kerala dropping from 52.1% to 38.7%, Himachal Pradesh from 47.7% to 28.4% and Haryana from 46.4% to 31.5%. The most affected states in terms of reading ability are Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, with their figures dropping from 22.6% to 10.3% and from 18.1% to 5.2%, respectively.

Tamil Nadu, Mizoram and Haryana recorded decline in maths skills, the survey said.

N-E states to test BJP flexibility, Congress tenacity

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi/ Guwahati

TRIPURA will go to the polls on February 16 and Nagaland and Meghalaya will vote for a new government on February 27, the Election Commission of India announced on Wednesday. The counting of votes in three states is due March 2.

The announcement marked the official start of the first round of Assembly polls in the New Year. Nine states, including Karnataka, Telangana, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, and Rajasthan, will go to polls this year, which are crucial in the run-up to the Lok Sabha elections next year.

The BJP is on a sticky wicket in Tripura due to infighting. It has fielded popular Bengali actor Mithun Chakraborty to mobilise party workers. The saffron outfit wrested power from the Left Front sin 2018, which culminated in the uninterrupted 25-year rule of the CPM.

The Congress and the Left are trying to regain the ground by stitching up an alliance. However, Tiprasa Indigenous Progressive Regional Alliance (TIPRA) holds the key as it has increased its footprints in the tribal areas of the state. The Trinamool Congress (TMC) is also determined to prove its clout outside West Bengal. In Nagaland, an influential tribal organisation, demanding the creation of "Frontier Nagaland" state, has threatened to "permanently expel" those who will file nominations to contest the February 27 polls from the Konyak soil.

The Konyak Union represents the tribesmen. It comes under the Eastern Nagaland People's Organisation (ENPO), the apex tribal body in eastern Nagaland which has six districts and 20 of the state's 60 Assembly constituencies. In Meghalaya, Trinamool Congress is trying to emerge as an alternative. It had no base in the state but 12 Congress MLAs, led by former CM Mukul Sangma, jumped ship in November 2021, making the Mamata Banerjee-led party the state's principal opposition overnight.

The Congress, which had emerged as the single largest party in the past two elections, has now reduced to a shadow of its past. It is left with no MLA after a series of defections.

3 STATES WITH MULTIPLE ALLIANCES

Tripura

2018: BJP scripts history with a massive win, ends the 25-year-long Left rule in Tripura. Biplab Deb takes oath as the first BJP CM of the state.

Growing resentment over his leadership led to Manik Saha's elevation as CM in 2022. Biplab gets RS seat after he handed over the mantle to Manik Saha

2023: CPM, Congress join hands. BJP intends to retain its alliance with the IPFT

Meghalaya

Number of seats 60

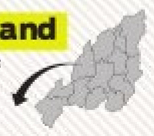
2018: Congress was the largest party in the assembly, but its tally of 21 seats was short of the halfway mark

2023: Rift between NPP, BJP. Sangma says his party will go it alone on all seats

Nagaland



Number of seats 60

The Neiphiu Rio of Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP) is the CM. He heads the United Democratic Alliance (UDA), which has apart from NDPP, the BJP and Naga People's Front (NPF).

2023: The alliance is strong. 21 NPF MLAs joined the UDA. In 2018, the NPF got 26 seats, the NDPP 18, the BJP 12, the NPP 2, the JDU 1 and 1 is Independent.

Chinks in saffron alliance, tribal parties likely to fight poll together, says Pradyot

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

THE BJP in Tripura will take a hit in the upcoming assembly election as its alliance partner Indigenous People's Front of Tripura (IPFT) is likely to merge with TIPRA Motha, Pradyot Manikya Debbarma told this newspaper in an exclusive interview on Wednesday.

Soon after the Election Commission announced the dates of the Assembly polls, Debbarma, who is tipped to be emerged as kingmaker in this election, said that the IPFT wrote to him expressing interest in the merger of the two parties.

"The BJP is on the back foot because the IPFT is likely to come with us. They wrote a letter to us today that they want to meet us and discuss a merger. If our demands are the same, then we will become one party and speak in one voice," he said, adding that the IPFT is disgruntled with the BJP as it failed to fulfill the promises made to the tribals.

Debbarma said that he is ready to change the name of his party if the merger takes place. "I am willing to change everything for the sake of people," he said. When asked about an alliance with the CPM and the Congress, Debbarma said that it can only happen if the parties give written assurance on his demand for a Greater Tipraland state for the tribals.

The TIPRA Motha is in power in Tripura's Tribal Areas Autonomous District Councils. The party has influence in more than 20 tribal-dominated seats in the 60-member Assembly. He said his outfit would contest in 40 seats.

"All three parties — BJP, Congress, and CPM — have approached me. I have told them clearly that the constitutional rights of the people are paramount. If they can offer me a solution in writing, I will consider their offer. I will not go with any verbal commitments," he said. Debbarma said that among the three parties, except CPM's Sitaram Yechury, others have not yet responded to his demand for the "greater Tipraland".

"Sitaram Yechury was sympathetic towards my demand. He welcomed it. Congress made it clear that they do not support the idea. If the CPM and Congress are together, then we have to also look at that aspect. Even BJP has been silent on it," he said. "I defeated all of them in the ADC election. If they want to make an alliance with us, they have to come up with a concrete offer," he added.

"We are not fighting for power. We are fighting for the land rights, linguistic rights, cultural, political and economic rights of the tribals," he said.

Shinde in a hurry to launch party symbol

Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde and his factions were in a hurry to launch the party symbol – bow and arrow by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Mumbai. And as a part of it, Shinde camp had even asked people to prepare the grand bow and arrow symbol by giving it a golden colour and saffron background. The elections commission of India did not confirm which party does Shiv Sena symbol belong to, on the last hearing day and postponed it on January 20. This will be after the PM's Mumbai visit that is scheduled on January 19. The ECI will either gives the verdict on January 20, or keep Shinde waiting for some time.

Fadnavis in PM's good books, stature goes up

Maharashtra deputy chief minister Devendra Fadnavis' stature has gone up. Fadnavis is known as the blue eyed boy of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. In 2019, He lost his seat due to a power tussle in Maharashtra, but Modi continued to back Fadnavis and praise his leadership in state. He was earlier given responsibility for Bihar and Goa state elections. Now, BJP is in power in the state, but Fadnavis got the second fiddle role to play, but that has not reduced his stature in the party. In the recently concluded national meet of BJP in Delhi, Fadnvis was asked to brief the media and speak on national meet dais where Modi and party chief JP Nadda were present.

Thorat's silence on Tambe questioned

Maharashtra Congress Legislature Party (CLP) leader Balasaheb Thorat refused to utter a word over his brother-in-law Dr Sudhir Tambe's refusal to submit his form as a Congress candidate for biennial elections of state council to pave the way for his son Satyajee,t who is contesting as an independent candidate. Thorat's silence is touted as a mutual support to Satyajeet candidature. Besides, alliance partners of MVA such as Shiv Sena and NCP were vocal about this fiasco, but Mr Thorat's silence pushed them to remain silent and not to make any hue and cry.

PAPER LEAK

Pilot questions Gehlot's clean chit to officers in 2nd rally

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

FORMER deputy Chief Minister of Rajasthan, Sachin Pilot has further sharpened his attack on his own party's government over the issue of 'paper leak' in recruitment exams in the state. Addressing a Kisan Sammelan in Jhunjhunu district on Wednesday, Pilot retorted to CM Ashok Gehlot's claim that no leaders or officers were involved in the paper leak case in the recruitment exam for teachers last month.

Raising a pertinent point, Pilot questioned, "If no officers were involved or responsible, how did papers come out of the safe custody in which they are kept? This seems like a very big magical trick." It is noteworthy that CM Gehlot belongs to a family of magicians and many of his clever political moves are described by his supporters as 'magical'.

To cover up its embarrassment over Pilot's barbs regarding paper leaks, the state Congress unit had detached the party from the string of rallies that Pilot is holding across the state. Rajasthan Congress chief said the public rallies held are only Pilot's personal initiative.

BJP bags Manpreet, Punjab ex-minister and from Badal clan

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

IN a coup of sorts, the BJP in Punjab enriched itself by admitting former state finance minister Manpreet Singh Badal into the party. The latest high-profile induction is the fifth in a series of Congress desertions that began with the state Assembly polls in February last year and continued well after the AAP sweep, halting with ex-CM Capt Amarinder Singh's joining the saffron camp in September last year.

The BJP is perceived to be almost non-existent in the border state (it has two seats in the 117-member Assembly), and it shed whatever it gained in partnership with Badals' SAD in the two Assembly polls in 2017 and 2012. The parting of ways with the Akalis came with a heavy price for BJP, though both were reduced to the margins in the AAP tsunami in 2022 polls. The Congress had it the worst: it not only suffered a humiliating defeat but also lost a string of leaders mainly to the BJP.

With Manpreet's entry, the BJP has gained two immediate advantages: it has sought to demonstrate the failure of the much-publicised Bharat Jodo Yatra of Rahul Gandhi and, second, it has exposed the chinks in the SAD citadel as Manpreet is the nephew of SAD patriarch Parkash Singh Badal.

Indications of Manpreet's consternation with state Congress chief Amarinder Singh Raja Warring were visible when he absented himself from Rahul's yatra as it entered Punjab last week.

Manpreet has been the bête-noire of SAD chief and his cousin Sukhbir Singh Badal. In his 27-year political career, BJP is Manpreet's fourth party of choice. He formed his Punjab People's Party before entering Congress.

Armyman, ITBP jawan held for harassment aboard Rajdhani

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

TWO security personnel — an Army jawan and an ITBP constable — were arrested on Wednesday on the charges of harassing girl students travelling in Delhi-bound Rajdhani Express. The accused — Amarjeet Singh (32) and Mukesh Kumar Singh (27) — were posted in Debrugarh in Assam and Arunachal Pradesh, respectively and returning to their homes in J&K and Punjab by train.

The railway protection force (RPF) personnel escorting the train (20505 Debrugarh-New Delhi Rajdhani Express) swung into action after a complaint was lodged by one Vinay Kumar, principal of Navodaya Vidyalaya, North Sikkim, with railway control room late on Tuesday night. Both security personnel were detained at Chhapra railway station in Bihar in inebriated condition.

Station house officer (SHO) of Chhapra GRP Rajesh Kumar Singh that the soldier and ITBP constable were taken into custody as soon as the train reached Chhapra railway junction.

"Both the accused have been booked on the charges of sexually harassing the girls and violating provisions of the Bihar Prohibition," he added.

Ahead of J&K leg of yatra, row erupts over invite to ex-BJP leader

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

RAHUL Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra is due to enter Jammu and Kashmir on Thursday. However, the participation of former BJP minister Choudhary Lal Singh in the yatra has created a controversy. The Congress spokesperson Deepika Pushkar resigned from the party as a mark of protest, and former chief minister and NC leader Omar Abdullah asked the Congress to ensure that yatra is not used by any leader to whitewash their past.

"The Congress would have to see whether some leaders are using the yatra to whitewash themselves," Omar said.

"We have not forgotten the role of those leaders, who had come in support of the rapists by playing with the emotions of the people. These leaders will now be using the yatra to present themselves as secular which is wrong and not good for the yatra," he said.

"The Congress leaders should see who is participating in the rally and what has been their track record," he added.

Singh had come in support of Kathua rape and murder accused and also held rallies in support of them.

An eight-year-old nomad girl was gangraped and murdered in Rasana village of Kathua in J&K in January 2018. Singh and another BJP minister Chandra Prakash were forced to resign from the then Mehbooba Mufti-led government in April 2018.

J&K Congress spokesperson Deepika Pushkar Nath, who had legally fought the case for Kathua rape and murder victim, resigned from the party on Tuesday over party allowing Singh to join the yatra.

"Lal Singh was responsible in sabotaging the Kathua rape case in 2018 by brazenly defending rapists. Lal Singh divided entire region of J&K to protect the rapists and @bharatjodo is ideologically opposite. On ideological grounds, I cannot share the party platform with such a person (sic)," tweeted Deepika.

BJP man elopes with SP leader's daughter, gets expelled from party

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

HISTORY is replete with incidents where matter of the heart has surpassed the rivalries be it political or personal. A similar incident has come to light in Hardoi where a local leader of ruling BJP has been accused of enticing the daughter of a Samajwadi Party leader and eloping with her recently.

On the basis of a complaint lodged by the aggrieved SP leader, the district police lodged a case against the politician and a hunt was launched to search the couple.

BJP secretary of Hardoi unit, Ashish Shukla, 45, allegedly eloped with the local SP leader's daughter, 25, whose marriage was fixed a few days back. Both are neighbours, and Shukla, who is already married with a 21-year-old son and a seven-year-old daughter, had been involved with the girl romantically for quite some time.

As the girl's family was making preparations for her wedding, she along with Shukla eloped around a week ago, said the police sources.

Meanwhile, initiating action against Shukla, the BJP state unit divested him of his organisational responsibilities and terminated his primary membership on January 12.

According to BJP media incharge Gangesh Pathak, Shukla had become inactive in the party for quite some time. He was expelled from the party as he was not taking interest in party activities and had indulged in behaviour contrary to the BJP's ideology. "Now the Hardoi police are free to act against him as per the law of the land," said the BJP spokesman.

Hardoi ASP Anil Kumar Yadav said that an FIR has been lodged against Shukla, and his relatives are being questioned about his whereabouts. "The mobile phone numbers of both Shukla and the girl have been put on electronic surveillance and they will be traced soon," said the ASP.

On the other hand, the incident has given ammo to SP, which is spearheading a twitter campaign against the BJP asking if that was how the daughters were safe in the BJP's rule. SP's former district chief Jitendra Verma threatened to take to the streets to ensure justice to the girl's family.

The whereabouts of the expelled BJP leader remain unknown. Police sources say he can be arrested under various charges linked luring women to malign their social image. The episode has given enough ammunition for parties to rail against each other.

C'garh: Leopard captured after 38-day search

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

THE elusive leopard that killed three villagers was captured by the forest officials in north Chhattisgarh on Wednesday after it walked into a cage set up at Manendragarh, about 350 km from Raipur.

The 'man-eater' leopard often managed to give a slip to the joint efforts of the forest department and the district administration for 38 days during which it killed three persons and seriously injured two others. The department struggled to capture the leopard by setting-up cage traps and placing goat, rooster and dog as bait, besides installing cameras and used drones to locate it but nothing seemed to have worked. On Tuesday two elephants were pressed into action with the experts to follow leopard on the basis of its pugmarks traced.

The trapped leopard is likely to be shifted to Kanan Pendari Zoological park in Bilaspur.

Farmers plan to pool in money to pay ransom in MP; cops say no idea

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

RESIDENTS of a village in Sheopur district of Madhya Pradesh are planning to collect donations for securing the release of three livestock farmers of their village, who've been abducted for ransom, possibly by a gang of criminals operating from neighbouring Rajasthan.

Three men, including Ram Swarup Yadav, Bhattu Baghel and Gudda Baghel — all livestock farmers — were kidnapped by unidentified men from the huts in jungles near Upaja village late on Friday night. Former sarpanch of Upaja village, Siyaram Baghel, said that seven men were abducted by the unidentified men. While four were released later, three are still with the captors, who have demanded ₹15 lakh ransom.

"Our village houses very poor families and most of them are livestock farmers. The farmers camp in the jungles after the fodder or grass in the village gets exhausted. One of those kidnapped farmers is so poor that his house doesn't even have a proper roof, then how are these families going to pay ₹15 lakh ransom for the release," Baghel asked.

Sheopur SP Alok Kumar Singh said, "Raids are being conducted at all possible places to track and rescue the three farmers. At first, a ₹10,000 bounty was declared by my office for getting information about the captors and it has now been raised to ₹30,000 by the ADG-Chambal Range."

The ADG-Chambal Range Rajesh Chawla reportedly met with the residents of Upaja village, on MP-Rajasthan border, on Wednesday and assured that the kidnapped farmers will be rescued safely within two days. The residents of the village have decided to raise donations to secure the release of the farmers, if they aren't rescued within two days, as promised by the ADG.

The former MP minister and senior Congress leader Ramnivas Rawat visited the Upaja village on Tuesday and met with families of the three kidnapped farmers. "The CM often talks about having eliminated dacoits from MP. Maybe it's true to some extent. But how come these three farmers have been kidnapped for ransom by dacoits. How are they going to pay the ransom?"

Inflation eases further in US, UK in December

WASHINGTON/LONDON

INFLATION eased further in the United States and Britain in December, boosting confidence that the cost-of-living crisis has peaked.

Consumer prices in the UK rose 10.5% in the year through December, down from 10.7% the previous month, the Office for National Statistics said on Wednesday.

Inflation peaked at a 41-year high of 11.1% in October.

While the drop is welcome, inflation is still running at levels last seen in the early 1980s. UK prices are also rising faster than in other major industrialised nations.

Wholesale prices in the United States rose 6.2% in December from a year earlier, a sixth straight slowdown and a hopeful sign that inflation pressures will continue to cool.

The latest year-over-year figure was down from 7.3% in November and from a recent peak of 11.7% in March.

Food prices fell by a sharp 1.2%, led by fruits, vegetables and chicken. One exception was egg prices. Driven up in part by a wave of avian flu, egg prices soared 25% just from November to December.

Inflation soared after Russia's invasion of Ukraine fuelled sharp increases in food and energy prices, eroding savings and living standards.

"The big picture is one of rapid disinflation, with much more to come," said Ian Shepherdson, chief economist at Pantheon Macroeconomics. Agencies

UKRAINE INTERIOR MINISTER KILLED IN HELICOPTER CRASH

DEPUTY INTERIOR MINISTER, SENIOR OFFICIALS ALSO AMONG AT LEAST 12 DEAD

KYIV

UKRAINE'S interior minister and other officials were among more than a dozen people killed by a helicopter crash on Wednesday near a kindergarten outside Kyiv, in a blow to the war-battered nation's government.

There was no immediate claim from Kyiv that Russian forces were involved in the tragedy, and authorities launched an investigation while crews were still working near the charred remains of the aircraft.

Officials initially said 18 people died but have revised the toll down to 14 — including Interior Minister Denys Monastyrsky, deputy Yevhen Yenin and State Secretary of the Ministry of Internal Affairs Yurii Lubkovych, other ministry officials and a child — as search operations ended. Dmytro Serbyn, who was in his apartment when the helicopter crashed, rushed to help children as soon as he saw flames billowing over the kindergarten.

"They were looking for their parents, children were crying... their faces were cut and covered in blood," Serbyn said.

"We pulled out one girl, I wrapped her in a jacket, her face was wounded... She did not tremble, did not cry." The child, Polina, was so badly injured that her father did not immediately recognise her, Serbyn told AFP. The helicopter carrying Monastyrsky slammed down next to a kindergarten and a residential building in Brovary, a commuter town for the capital Kyiv that was the scene of fierce fighting with Russian forces last year. Amateur footage circulating on social media in the immediate aftermath captured cries and a large blaze.

"Today, a terrible tragedy occurred in Brovary, Kyiv region," Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said on social media. "The pain is unspeakable," he said.

It was not immediately clear where the helicopter was going. The presidency said it was headed to frontline regions, while Kyiv mayor Vitali Klitschko said it was flying to a missile strike site in Dnipro.

Zelensky instructed law enforcement to launch an investigation into the circumstances of the crash.

Britain said "Ukrainians will continue to be collateral (victims) as long as (Russian President Vladimir) Putin continues his needless war," while Berlin "offered Germany's support in identifying the causes of the helicopter crash". Agencies

Nurses across England stage fresh walk-out over wages

LONDON

NURSES across England began two days of strikes over pay on Wednesday, threatening fresh disruption for patients in the creaking state-run health service, as new figures showed inflation still surging.

The walkout comes after nurses held their union's first stoppage in more than a century last month, joining a wave of industrial action by UK public sector workers hit by a cost-of-living crisis driven by spiralling prices.

The latest annual inflation statistics, released early Wednesday, showed they remained close to record highs, with rates easing slightly in December to 10.5%, compared with 10.7% the previous month. The main nursing union accuses the government of failing to negotiate seriously on improving their pay deal for the current year, which they say is crucial given the economic situation.

"We don't want to do this. This is the last thing we want to do because... we're caring people," mental health support worker Steven Bedford said from a picket line outside a south London hospital.

"We know A&E (Accident and Emergency) is probably struggling today. But we have to make a point. We have to make a stand at some point and hopefully something can happen."

The latest walkout piles further pressure on the National Health Service (NHS) at a time of peak demand due to winter illnesses and lengthening waiting lists for treatment caused by Covid cancellations and under-staffing. Further strikes are planned for February 6 and 7 by the Royal College of Nursing (RCN) union, which has said they will "be at the highest intensity" in its history.

Conservative Prime Minister Rishi Sunak has insisted recession-hit Britain cannot afford to reopen public sector pay already set for this fiscal year, which ends on March 31.

He has hinted at the possibility of more flexibility in agreeing upcoming salary deals, handled by pay review bodies whose independence from government has been questioned. AFP

US Treasury Secretary Yellen to soon visit Beijing

ZURICH

TREASURY Secretary Janet Yellen, who held her first face-to-face meeting with her Chinese counterpart on Wednesday, will soon travel to China, Washington said, as the two countries seek to boost contacts.

Yellen "looks forward to travelling to China and to welcoming her counterparts to the United States in the near future," the US treasury department said following her meeting with Chinese Vice Premier Liu He in Zurich.

That comes just a day after a US official confirmed that US Secretary of State Antony Blinken will visit Beijing on February 5-6, marking the first trip by the top US diplomat in four years. The planned visits come amid heightened diplomatic efforts to keep high tensions in check between the world's two largest economies.

Long-simmering disputes between the two countries flared during Donald Trump's presidency and have continued — if less acutely — under US President Joe Biden.

The United States and China, which are locked in fierce strategic competition, spend more on their militaries than any other nations. But both Biden and his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping have said they want to reduce tensions.

When the two leaders met in November on the sidelines of the Group of 20 summit in Bali, both voiced guarded hope at preventing disputes from spiralling out of control.

They pledged "to continue responsibly managing the competition between our two countries and to explore potential areas of cooperation," the State Department said in November.

Following Yellen's meeting with Liu on Wednesday, the treasury department said the discussion had been "candid, substantive and constructive".

The pair had "agreed it is important for the functioning of the global economy to further enhance communication around macroeconomic and financial issues," it said.

"They also agreed about the importance of sustainable development and that they would enhance cooperation on climate finance on a bilateral and multilateral basis," it added.

During the meeting, the statement said, Yellen had also "raised issues of concern in a frank exchange of views." AFP

Pak secretly pushing Af Taliban to neutralise TTP threat: Report

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN is quietly encouraging the Afghan Taliban government to neutralise the threat posed by the banned Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) after the banned militant outfit in recent months have stepped up terrorist attacks across the country, according to a media report on Wednesday. However, it has emerged from the efforts so far that the interim government in Kabul still sticks to its earlier stance that the only way to resolve the TTP issue is through dialogue, The Express Tribune quoted officials familiar with the development as saying.

Pakistan pursued peace talks with the terror outfit at the request of the Afghan Taliban. Initially, talks produced some results as the group agreed to a ceasefire in return for Pakistan allowing certain TTP members to return home.

The ceasefire, however, collapsed after the group continued to target security officials, ramping up their attacks in recent months. In the last three months alone, the TTP, which wants to impose the law of Sharia across Pakistan, claimed responsibility for over 150 terrorist attacks. The flurry of attacks compelled the country's civil and military leadership to revisit the Afghan strategy.

Earlier this month, the National Security Committee (NSC) held an extended meeting for two days to discuss the spike in terrorist attacks. PTI

Biden insists debt ceiling be dealt sans conditions

Washington: The White House on Tuesday insisted that the looming debt ceiling crisis be dealt without conditions and there is no room for negotiations on this. "This should not be political brinkmanship. We should be dealing with the debt ceiling without conditions. It is important. We're not going to work our way around this; we're not going to negotiate on this. This is the basic duty of Congress," White House Press Secretary Karine Jean-Pierre told reporters at her daily news conference. In the last administration, the Democrats and Republicans were able to deal with the debt limit three times. Last week, Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen in a letter to Congress raised the red flag on an imminent debt crisis.

Microsoft to cut 10,000 jobs globally, impact in India not yet known

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

MICROSOFT on Wednesday announced that it is firing 10,000 or less than 5% of its total employee base globally through Q3FY23-March 31, starting January 18.

It is not yet clear how many Indian employees will be impacted in this reduction. Microsoft, which set up its India operations in 1990, employs over 20,000 people across 11 cities. These employees in India are engaged in sales and marketing, research, development and customer services and support. In recent weeks, Amazon, Alphabet, Salesforce, among other major tech companies, announced that they will be lowering headcounts. Microsoft said that customers are now optimising their digital spend to do more with less, and that the company will align cost structure with revenue and where it sees customer demand.

Microsoft has over 20K staff in India

It is not yet clear how many Indian employees will be impacted in this reduction. Microsoft, which set up its India operations in 1990, employs over 20,000 people across 11 cities. These employees in India are engaged in sales and marketing, research, development and customer services and support

In a note to employees, Microsoft CEO Satya Nadella said, "We are living through times of significant change… We're also seeing organizations in every industry and geography exercise caution as some parts of the world are in a recession and other parts are anticipating one. At the same time, the next major wave of computing is being born with advances in AI, as we're turning the world's most advanced models into a new computing platform."

Microsoft also announced that it will continue to invest in strategic areas. It will allocate capital and talent to areas of secular growth while diviesting in other areas.

"These are the kinds of hard choices we have made throughout our 47-year history to remain a consequential company in this industry that is unforgiving to anyone who doesn't adapt to platform shifts. As such, we are taking a $1.2 billion charge in Q2 related to severance costs, changes to our hardware portfolio, and the cost of lease consolidation as we create higher density across our workspaces," Nadella added.

The company also said that benefits for employees outside the US will align with the employment laws in each country.

IT RULES: HAVE TO REMOVE CONTENT FLAGGED BY GOVT

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government's proposed amendment to the IT Rules, 2021, which mandates to take down any content from social media that has been identified as fake by the government, has not gone down well with the experts.

They said the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021 impinge on fundamental rights to speech and expression of news publishers.

Internet India Foundation, which conducts advocacy on digital rights and liberties, said this move will heavily impact the freedom of speech, expression and information online and will make government the final arbiter of what news may be published and what must be removed. Editor Guild of India is of the view that giving authority to PIB to determine veracity of news reports, and directing online intermediaries and social media platforms to take down content is akin to censorship. "Now, MeitY has proposed amendments to the IT Rules 2021, which may require intermediaries to block access to social media posts and even news stories themselves, if the PIB terms them as"fake " or "false ". This kind of control is prone to misuse and may significantly accelerate the trend towards censorship of the Indian internet," said Internet India Foundation in a statement.

The ministry inserted this change while deliberating the framework of online gaming in India. The online gaming regulation, released by the minister on 2 January 2023, proposes a self-regulatory mechanism, mandatory verification of players and physical Indian address for online gaming companies.

GoMechanic to fire 70% staff, admits fin reporting 'errors'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

ONLINE car service and repair start-up GoMechanic has admitted to financial reporting 'errors', and will fire 70% of the 1,200-odd workforce.

Now the cash-strapped start-up, which is backed by Sequoia Capital, Chiratae Ventures and Tiger Global Management, among other investors, will have its accounts audited by a third-party firm.

In a LinkedIn post, its co-founder Amit Bhasin said that they take full responsibility for this current situation and that they have decided to restructure the business while looking for capital solutions.

"This restructuring is going to be painful and we will unfortunately need to let go of approximately 70% of the workforce," he said. "As entrepreneurs, we identify problems, come up with solutions, and explore every opportunity to grow those solutions to meet unmet needs.

But in this instance, we got carried away. Our passion to survive the intrinsic challenges of this sector, and manage capital, took the better of us and we made errors in judgment as we followed growth at all costs, including in regard to financial reporting, which we deeply regret," he added.

Third-party audit

The cash-strapped start-up, backed by Sequoia Capital, Chiratae Ventures and Tiger Global Management, among other investors, will have its accounts audited by a third-party firm

Founded in 2016 by Kushal Karwa, Amit Bhasin, Rishabh Karwa and Nitin Rana, GoMechanic is a network of technology-enabled car service centres. These financial errors raise the question of accountability among start-ups.

In September 2022, it was reported that SoftBank was planning to invest $35 million in GoMechanic.

In a joint statement, the start-up's major investors said they were recently made aware of the serious inaccuracies in the financial reporting. "We are deeply distressed by the fact that the founders knowingly misstated facts, including but not limited to inflation of revenue, which the founders have acknowledged," the statement added.

As per Tracxn, the company raised $62 million in funding so far and its latest funding round was in June 2021. As of July 31, 2022, the start-up had employed 1,230 people. It was valued at $283 million in November 2021. In FY22, the firm reported ₹96.8 crore revenues, compared to ₹47.2 crore in FY21, and loss for the year stood at ₹114.3 crore, up from ₹27.4 crore in the previous fiscal.

Meenakshi Energy bid by Vedanta gets lenders' nod

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU

OYO to refile updated IPO papers with SEBI by mid-February

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

HOSPITALITY firm Oravel Stays, which operates brand OYO Hotels, is expected to refile its Draft Red Herring Prospectus (DRHP) for public listing with the market regulator SEBI by the middle of February 2023, according to a source close to this development.

The Ritesh Agarwal-founded company had earlier indicated that the process of refiling the comprehensive document could take up to 2-3 months.

Oyo is expediting its IPO process even as few firms are delaying or completely deferring their decision to go public despite receiving approval from the SEBI owing to prevailing market conditions and poor performance of new age firms such as Paytm, Zomato and Nykaa on the bourses. The company at the beginning of this year had indicated that the process of refiling the comprehensive document could take up to two-three months. OYO's last submission to SEBI was the updated financial results of the first half of financial year 22-23.

OYO was earlier planning to launch its much-awaited IPO in the first half of CY2023. However, the SoftBank-backed firm may see a nominal delay now in becoming a publicly listed firm. As per a SEBI update, the regulator returned its DRHP on December 30, 2022, and asked the firm to update additional sections such as updated risk factors, KPI's, (Outstanding Litigations, Basis for Valuation) etc. This development may augur well for OYO as it allows it to incorporate October-December quarter data when travel activity was at its peak. The recently concluded quarter witnessed high hotel booking throughout India and OYO is said to have raked in solid numbers.

Sharing progress on IPO refiling exercise, a OYO spokesperson said, "We are working on updating all key sections simultaneously. Responsibilities have been divided among different teams, with senior company leaders driving the collaboration with the book running lead managers, essentially the IPO bankers, the lawyers and the auditors. We are keen on refiling the DRHP by mid-Feb 2023, if not earlier."

Maruti recalls 17,362 cars owing to faulty airbags

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

India's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki on Wednesday said it is recalling 17,362 units of its six models, Alto K10, S-Presso, Eeco, Brezza, Baleno and Grand Vitara, to rectify a possible defect in airbag controller according to a regulatory filing by the company.

The affected vehicles are manufactured between 8 December 2022 and 12 January 2023.

The carmaker said that the recall is being undertaken to inspect and replace Airbag Controller ("affected part"), free of cost, if required in these vehicles.

"It is suspected that there is a possible defect in the affected part, which in rare case might result in non-deployment of the airbags and seat belt pretensioners, in the event of a vehicle crash. Out of abundant caution, customers of the suspected vehicles are advised not to drive or use the vehicle till the affected part is replaced," said MSIL in a statement.

The government had earlier mandated that all passenger cars are required to have a minimum of six airbags from October 1, 2023.

Sensex regains 61,000 level as mkt rallies for 2nd straight day

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S equity market gained for the second consecutive session on Wednesday with strong buying seen across metal and financial stocks.

At Wednesday's closing, the BSE Sensex rose 0.64% to surpass the 61,000 level at 61,046, while the NSE Nifty50 closed 0.62% higher at 18,165.

With the two-day rally, benchmark indices are now at their highest levels in two weeks. Nifty and Sensex had gained about 1% each on Tuesday.

As per market experts, foreign institutional investors (FIIs) turning net buyers for the first time in the calendar year on January 17 was a major contributor to the surge. FIIs had purchased shares worth ₹211 crore on a net basis on Tuesday (Jan 17). However, on Wednesday, they again turned seller as they sold shares worth ₹319 crore on a net basis. So far in CY23, FIIs outflow from the Indian equity market stands at about $2.5 billion.

"The notable feature of market action over the first half of January has been muted market volumes, despite elevated institutional activity – FIIs have been net sellers worth $2.5 billion in January so far.

Shubman Gill (L) celebrates his double century against New Zealand | AFP

GEN-NEXT GILL GETS GOING

GOMESH S @Chennai

WHEN Rohit Sharma made it clear that Shubman Gill was their first-choice opener ahead of Ishan Kishan for the Sri Lanka series, there were questions over the team management's decision. But the 23-year-old has proved them right, scoring 70, 21 and 116 in that series.

On Wednesday, he topped it off by smashing a double century against New Zealand in the first ODI in Hyderabad. His 149-ball 208, which took India to 349/8, made him the youngest male cricketer ever and eighth overall to achieve the landmark.

It comes as no surprise though. For Gill has been earmarked as the one for the future a long time ago. The makings of international dominance were visible way back in 2018. He had his unique abilities, but the similarities he shared with Virat Kohli were uncanny. Whether it was the short-arm jab, or the bottom-hand dominating cover drive, they made it hard to ignore the murmurs of the passing of the baton from one generational great to the one brimming with potential to become one. He thrives on pace and bounce — remember Brisbane 2021 — mauls anything that is full, takes apart spinners at will. He did it all on Wednesday with such ease that it felt like he was playing EA cricket. And if not for his late onslaught, the hosts might as well have ended up on the losing side.

There was nothing fancy about his hundred celebration as he knows he is going to score a lot more of it. But the 23-year-old let out a roar when surpassed 200, for he knows that is what he is capable of. "There's certainly a feeling of satisfaction. It has sunk in pretty well, this is certainly one of those things, like what dreams are made of," Gill said after the match.

There is still a long way to go to see if he becomes a generational great. For now, Gill has shown that he is here to stay. Brief scores: India 349/8 in 50 ovs (Gill 208) bt NZ 337 in 49.2 ovs (Bracewell 140).

DUTEE 'PROVISIONALLY SUSPENDED' FOR DOPING

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

INDIA'S top sprinter Dutee Chand has tested positive for banned substances and has been provisionally suspended. According to a document accessed by this daily, she has tested positive for drugs classified as Selective Androgen Receptor Modulator (SARM). It is banned at all times under S1.2 of the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) list of prohibited substances.

The S1.2 comes under 1 Anabolic Agent – .2. Other anabolic agents, Including, but not limited to: "Clenbuterol, selective androgen receptor modulators, [SARMs, e.g. andarine, LGD-4033 (ligandrol), enobosarm (ostarine) and RAD140], tibolone, zeranol and zilpaterol."

National record holder in 100m and Asian Games medalist Dutee, however, denied this and said she has received no such communication from anyone so far. "I also got some social media screenshots sent to me but so far I have not received any such communication from NADA or WADA," she told this daily. "I have lived in controversy. There's always one thing or the other. And I have been competing in the highest level and I never had any doping offence so far. On top of that there was no competition in December either. The document needs to be verified properly." An Adverse Analytical Finding report of NADA that has apparently been sent to Dutee has said that she tested positive for SARMs. The urine sample apparently was collected out-of-competition in Bhubaneswar on December 5. She tested positive for andarine and its metabolites, enobosarm (ostarine) and ligandrol (LGD-4033) – all considered SARMs.

Terrance music with elite tune at WC

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Bhubaneswar

Indian hockey team during a practice session at Kalinga Stadium in Bhubaneswar on Wednesday | DEBADATTA MALLICK

TERRANCE Pieters stands out while wearing the Dutch hockey jersey under the Bhubaneswar lights on Tuesday. He stands out even as he completes a sparkling team move in a training session. He stands out during a debrief session. He stands out in a team huddle. Truth be said, he started standing out even before he decided to pursue an elite hockey career in The Netherlands.

It's to do with the complexion of his skin. Hockey is still seen as an elite sport in most European countries -- the 26-year-old Pieters is one of the few players of colour that the country has had at the elite level in recent memory -- so that perception has prevented the sport from growing in minority communities.

Pieters is well aware of this. "I get a lot of questions about it (his initiation into hockey and how his colleagues viewed him)," he says after the training session. "I started at a club in a city which is very multi-cultural. I knew I was in the minority group because of the complexion of my skin but it wasn't odd that I played hockey in the city (Almere, a short drive across Amsterdam).

"But when I travelled to other cities, we came across clubs from wealthy neighbourhoods, especially people in the Netherlands associate hockey with wealthy people... they associate with white people. When I was younger with my teams, we experienced that people looked differently at us or oddly at us because we had one or two from foreign backgrounds. But I see that is slowly changing."

Pieters, who made his senior debut in 2017 (he has over 40 caps now), sees himself as being a vital component to change the mindset of the people back home. "I think it's slowly changing because the perception of hockey being a very wealthy sport is also slowly changing," he says. I also try to support the change myself when activities are happening in different neighbourhoods because I think it's a good way to grow the sport well."

Pieters says the federation is also helping drive this change by actively taking to the streets. Throughout the years, there has not been too many people from other backgrounds playing for the Netherlands. I hope it will change. I can see that the Netherlands federation is trying to get to different localities and trying to get kids to play hockey. Hope that they can get to see a reflection of the population which is very diverse, we don't see that much yet at hockey. I hope that maybe me playing for Netherlands will stimulate the change."

So, it's not a surprise to note that Pieters, born to an Indonesian father and a Surinamese mother, doesn't regret his choice of sport even if he wanted to be a footballer. "I got into hockey thanks to my sister who started playing it with a few of her older friends at school. I always wanted to be a footballer because in the Netherlands, it's the biggest sport. My parents thought it was easier to have both kids at the same club... so they pushed me into hockey which I don't regret any more. That's how I started.

"I started playing hockey when I was six. I always used to play football when I was outside with other kids. When I was at school, I always loved football. But I have never participated in a football club or a team." In Bhubaneswar, Pieters stands out. In the future, though, he hopes he doesn't have to.

4 IF INDIA FINISH SECOND OR THIRD in the pool, they will play a crossover match against one of the teams in Pool D. As it stands, they will play Malaysia, who are currently third in that Pool, behind leaders Netherlands and second-placed New Zealand.

India	2	1	1	2	4
Spain	2	1	0	2	3
Wales	2	0	0	-9	0

No training for Hardik

Midfielder Hardik Singh, who injured his hamstring during the match against England, missed Wednesday's training session. While India coach Graham Reid refused to rule him out against Wales, there is a feeling that India will give him a night off rather than risk playing him. If they do bring in a replacement player for him, the hosts cannot bring back Hardik so that complicates matters.

Sports min seeks reply from WFI

ENS @Chennai

WRESTLER Vinesh Phogat also revealed during the protest that so upset were the wrestlers that she along with Bajrang Punia went to meet Home Minister Amit Shah some months ago to highlight issues plaguing the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI). Later in the day, the sports ministry asked the WFI to file a reply to all allegations levelled against its chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh. A statement issued by the ministry said it took cognizance of the protest staged by wrestlers, including Olympic and CWG medalists, in Delhi and a press conference in which wrestlers have levelled serious charges of sexual harassment of women wrestlers by the President and coaches of the WFI and of mismanagement in the functioning of the federation. The ministry has sought an explanation from WFI.

It has also directed the federation to furnish a reply within the next 72 hours. In its communication to WFI, the Ministry has stated that "since the matter pertains to the well-being of athletes, the Ministry has taken a very serious view of the matter."

We will not compete in any international competition until the WFI President is removed. This is a fight to save Indian wrestling. He uses abusive language against wrestlers, we can even show you videos of that

Bajrang Punia, Olympic and Worlds medallist

We've sent notices to Delhi police & union sports ministry. Immediate justice should be served in this case. WFI President should be arrested & stern action should be taken against the coaches whose names have come up in the matter

Lakshya looking to find his wings

ANMOL GURUNG @New Delhi

LAKSHYA Sen has risen to prominence over the years with some monumental victories along the way. His ability to transform into beast mode during crunch matches has made him a big pull among fans and the badminton fraternity in the country. With the Olympic qualification on the horizon, he'll be a man in focus. Every point gained, every smash, return (all those terminologies from the sport's playbook) will be scrupulously analysed, dissected by many. Given that he's had a minor surgery not so long ago and is working under the guidance of a new coach, Anup Sridhar (former player who took part in 2008 Olympics), will only add to intrigue.

The 21-year-old from Almora had undergone septoplasty after the World Championships last year. That decision was not out of the blue and Lakshya's team had found a window to carry out the same. U Vimal Kumar, who has been a constant in his journey so far, explained his recent predicament. "He's constantly having problems with his throat. (...) he'll be okay the previous day, and after a sleep, you know he gets it and it's throat pain and fever. So it happened to him in Germany, when he played in Saarbrucken. So after that surgery, I think he still hasn't fully recovered," Vimal revealed.

Change always tends to be a big gamble for athletes who are constantly racing against time. With crucial days/nights ahead, how the Commonwealth Games champion will respond to Anup's coaching methods should also be something to look out for. On Tuesday, on the opening day of the India Open Super 750 in New Delhi, the 2021 World Championships bronze medallist showed a glimpse of what he could offer under his new guide, who has been working with him since December last year. Up against India counterpart HS Prannoy, who had made him toil just a few days ago in Malaysia, Lakshya played with real flow to outplay Prannoy 21-14, 21-15.

Anup was stoked to witness his ward thrive and felt that he could go on to express himself more inside the court after this morale-boosting win. "The approach today (Tuesday) was very positive, aggressive and attacking, which is his natural style. Coming off after a couple of months of non-competition to high-level competition. It's always good to get a win under your belt, I think he'll open up a lot more now. He was tentative last week, now there's aggressiveness in his game. This is what we must do going forward," Anup, who'll be with Lakshya at least until the end of this month (a review will be conducted to decide the future), said. The former India shuttler is also mindful not to make many changes, something that could potentially prove to do more harm than good.

While Vimal remains positive ahead of Olympic qualifiers (set to start from May 1), he is just hopeful that Lakshya can learn from past experiences and is hopeful that he can keep all his nagging injuries at bay with some prudent routines.

The Axe-factor: Viktor too good for Srikanth

ANMOL GURUNG @New Delhi

SHUTTLER Viktor Axelsen has been a riddle for a fair amount of time now. Slow court, fast court, Asian style, European style, it doesn't really matter to the reigning Olympic champion from Denmark. The end result always seems to be inevitable with a win in Axelsen's favour.

With his calm approach and astute defense, he seems to be unfazed even when the tide is against him. Kidambi Srikanth will attest to that. Despite the crowd advantage, Srikanth became the latest victim of the World No 1, who has made winning look like child's play.

After controlling the first game in the opening round of the ongoing India Open Super 750 event on Wednesday, Axelsen was in unfamiliar territory. Down 5-14 in the second game, Srikanth was thriving, playing with new-found confidence, managing to land smashes and forcing his rival to err.

Axelsen, though, didn't seem to be perturbed. After snatching seven straight points, the equation was a lot closer at 12-14. He then masterfully went on to seal the game and the match.

RANJI TROPHY

Pradosh, Vijay hit tons as TN take command

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

PRADOSH Ranjan Paul (153) and Vijay Shankar (112) completed their centuries on Wednesday to put Tamil Nadu in command against Assam during Day 2 of Ranji trophy Elite Group B match at the MA Chidambaram Stadium. Tamil Nadu were all-out for 540 in 132.3 overs. In reply, Assam were 120 for 4 in 45 overs at stumps.

Pradosh, who was 99 on Tuesday, played a lot more fluently along with Vijay who also played a mature innings to serve the team's cause. Pradosh and Vijay added 263 runs in 60.1 overs for the fifth wicket. "I always try to focus on trying to do my process right and not worrying too much on the runs. I know if I spend time in the middle, runs will come,'' said Pradosh.

Vijay Shankar was in happy space of mind after spending the major part of last year due to injury and later rehab. He has notched up three hundreds and they have all come under pressure. "Very happy to get those runs for the team. I actually went through a lot during rehab. Hence coming after that and getting all those runs (hundreds); I am pretty happy the way I am playing and contributing for the team," he said.

CARPACCIO THE ARTIST, NOT THE APPETISER, NOW GETTING HIS DUE

When most people think of "carpaccio," they think of the thinly sliced raw beef appetiser made famous by Venice's iconic Harry's Bar. Few people know that the dish is named for a lesser-known Venetian, the Renaissance painter Vittore Carpaccio, because of the intense red hues he favoured

INSPIRING OTHERS

And it clearly was an inspiration for Giuseppe Cipriani, the Venetian restauranteur and owner of Harry's Bar, who invented a dish named for the painter in the 1950s

HIRING CARPACCIO

The republic's naval fleet hired one of the most prominent Venetian painters of his time, Carpaccio, to paint a series of paintings dedicated to St. George, the legendary figure slayed a dragon, saved a princess and convinced the Selenites to convert to Christianity

ATTENTION TO DETAIL

It is classic Carpaccio, a combination of narrative storytelling and attention to detail

AN ARTIST AHEAD OF HIS TIME

Carpaccio the painter has recently received more attention outside his native Venice. In November, the National Gallery in Washington inaugurated the first retrospective exhibit of his work outside Italy

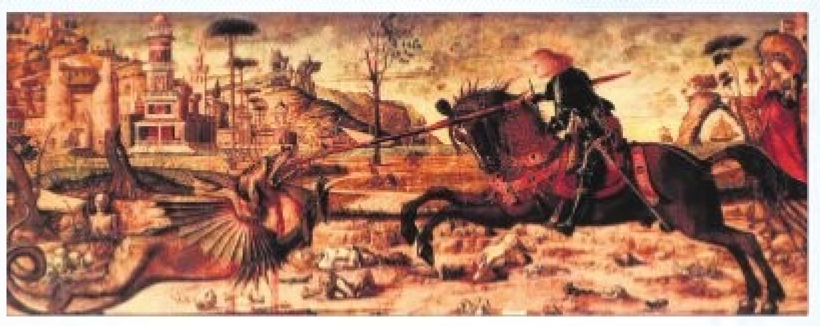
HESITANT TO SEND THE MASTERPIECES

"At first, we were a bit hesitant, because allowing these masterpieces to leave their natural habitat is always a risk," said Piergiorgio Millich, the grand guardian of the Scuola di San Giorgio degli Schiavon fraternity

SAINT GEORGE AND THE DRAGON

In the first painting in the cycle "Saint George and the Dragon," the saint is on horseback with his lance thrust into the mouth of the dragon

The princess, dressed in a "carpaccio" red robe, watches the scene from a rocky outcropping above



10 CARPACCIO PAINTINGS

The Venice institution, also known as the Scuola Dalmata, or Dalmatian School, has 10 Carpaccio paintings, the most still under the roof of the same place that originally commissioned the artist's work

RESTORING THE ARTWORK

Art conservator Valentina Piovan analysed the works and undertook a yearlong restoration before she convinced the institution that some of the canvases could safely make the journey to Washington

ABOUT THE VENICE INSTITUTION

Piovan is now working on restoration of other Carpaccios in the headquarters of the fraternity, which was founded in 1451 by a group of Venetians as a centre providing medical and spiritual support for members—mostly sailors in the republic's naval fleet

UN chief criticises oil companies for big lie on global warming

Antonio Guterres, UN Secretary-General said the firms should be held accountable for their actions, also urged the world to end addiction towards fossil fuels

CLIMATE

DAVOS: UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres skewered oil companies on Wednesday for having "peddled the big lie" about their role in global warming, telling the business elites at the World Economic Forum that oil firms should be held accountable for their actions.

Guterres drew a parallel between the actions of oil companies and those of tobacco companies that have been hit by huge lawsuits over the adverse effects of cigarettes.

"We learned last week that certain fossil fuel producers were fully aware in the 1970s that their core product was baking our planet," he said.

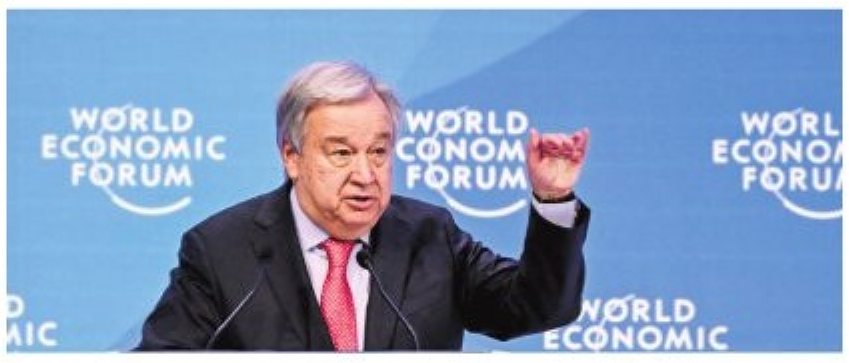
He was referring to a study published in the journal Science that said ExxonMobil had dismissed the findings of its own scientists on the role of fossil fuels in climate change.

"Just like the tobacco industry, they rode roughshod over their own science," Guterres said, referring to lawsuits that determined cigarette companies had hidden the dangers of their products.

"Some in Big Oil peddled the big lie. And like the tobacco industry, those responsible must be held to account," he said.

The study on ExxonMobil, an American oil and gas firm, found that the firm's scientists had modelled and predicted global warming "with shocking accuracy", only for the company "to spend the next couple of decades denying that very climate science".

In his speech, Guterres urged the world to "end the addiction to fossil fuels" as he warned that the aspirational goal of limiting warming to 1.5°C from pre-industrial levels was "going up in smoke".



UN chief Antonio Guterres addresses a session of the World Economic Forum | AFP

"Fossil fuel producers and their enablers are still racing to expand production, knowing full well that this business model is inconsistent with human survival," he said.

"This insanity belongs in science-fiction, yet we know the ecosystem meltdown is cold, hard scientific fact," Guterres added further.

Guterres also called on business leaders in the room to provide by the end of the year "credible and transparent" plans on how to achieve net-zero emissions.

UN experts published recommendations at the UN climate summit in Egypt in November, saying firms could not claim to be net-zero if they invested in new fossil fuels, caused deforestation or offset emissions with carbon credits instead of reducing them.

"Here at Davos, I call on all corporate leaders to act based on these guidelines," Guterres said. He also noted that the benchmarks and criteria in corporate pledges are "often dubious or murky", which can "mislead consumers, investors and regulators with false narratives".

ETERNAL SLEEP

World's oldest known person, French nun, passes away at 118

CAREGIVER

PARIS: A French nun who was believed to be the world's oldest person has died a few weeks before her 119th birthday, the spokesperson for her nursing home in southern France said on Wednesday.

Randon, known as Sister Andre, was born in southern France on February 11, 1904.

She died in her sleep at her nursing home in Toulon, spokesman David Tavella said.

"There is great sadness but…it was her desire to join her beloved brother. For her, it's a liberation," Tavella, of the Sainte-Catherine-Laboure nursing home, told AFP.

Sister Andre (February 11, 1904 to January, 17 2023) | AP

The sister was long feted as the oldest European, before the death of Japan's Kane Tanaka aged 119 last year left her the longest-lived person on Earth.

Guinness World Records officially acknowledged her status in April 2022.

She grew up in a Protestant family as the only girl among three brothers, living in the southern town of Ales.

One of her fondest memories was the return of two of her brothers at the end of World War I, she told AFP in an interview on her 116th birthday.

"It was rare, in families, there were usually two dead rather than two alive. They both came back," she said. She worked as a governess in Paris—a period she once called the happiest time of her life—for the children of wealthy families. She converted to Catholicism and was baptised at the age of 26. Driven by a desire to "go further", she joined the Daughters of Charity order of nuns at the age of 41.

Sister Andre was then assigned to a hospital in Vichy, where she worked for 31 years.

In later life, she moved to Toulon along the Mediterranean coast. Her days in the nursing home were punctuated by prayer, mealtimes and visits from residents and hospice workers. She also received a steady flow of letters, almost all of which she responded to. In 2021 she survived catching Covid-19, which infected 81 residents of her nursing home.

Randon told reporters last year that her work and caring for others had kept her spry. "People say that work kills, for me work kept me alive, I kept working until I was 108," she said in April last year in the tearoom of the home. Although she was blind and relied on a wheelchair, she used to care for other elderly people much younger than herself.

The oldest living known person in the world listed by the Gerontology Research Group is now American-born Maria Branyas Morera, who is living in Spain, and is 115.

Toiling to cut visa wait time in India, says US

TRAVEL

WASHINGTON: The US is 'putting every ounce of its energy' to eliminate the long visa wait time in India, including sending a cadre of consular officers to the country and opening up its other overseas embassies as far away as Germany and Thailand for Indian visa applicants, according to a senior US visa officer.

India was one of the very few countries where applications for US visas saw a major upswing after coronavirus-related travel restrictions were lifted.

There have been growing concerns in India over the long waiting period for first time visa applicants, especially for those applying under B1 (business) and B2 (tourist) categories. The waiting period of first time B1/B2 visa applicants in India was close to three years in October last year.

"We're putting every ounce of our energy toward eliminating these (visa) wait times in India," Deputy Assistant Secretary for Visa Services, Julie Stufft told PTI. The normalisation of visa operations around the world right now is a top priority, she said.

"We're sending a cadre of consular officers to help our staff in our embassy and consulates in India. They're working shifts during the day. They're working weekends, mainly to do visitor visa interviews, which…are now the only remaining visa type that we have long wait times for," she said. Stufft said in working through those visa types this year, the US has made a lot of progress. The wait time for an interview for work visas, like H-1B and L1 visas—has gone down from 18 months to 60 days.

According to her, dozens of consular officers who don't work permanently in India are being moved to its various missions in India to help its staff there. "We are spending a huge amount of manpower to come up through this wait time," she said.

Stufft said their goal this year is to get to the 120 calendar days wait time for all of the visa categories.

Indians make up a large proportion of the recipients of H-1B and other work visas granted to skilled foreign workers, many in the tech industry.

BEING IN HIS SHOES

After going viral on popular reality show Shark Tank (India), Ganesh Balakrishnan, co-founder of a footwear brand, saw an outpouring of love and support, and is currently sold out. The city-based entrepreneur speaks to CE about how life changed since his appearance on national television

MONIKA MONALISA

GANESH Balakrishnan, co-founder of Flatheads, a sustainable footwear brand, broke down on national television on the reality show Shark Tank (India), as he tried to explain his last resort of trying to save his company from loss. It's a moment that every entrepreneur felt his pain having been in a similar situation at one point or the other.

Although he didn't get the investment that he had hoped for, something unthinkable happened over the following week. The products got sold out, nationally and internationally as well and the brand visibility skyrocketed more than what Balakrishnan could have imagined.

In Balakrishnan's words, he 'didn't know what to do' with his story going viral. "I couldn't deal with it. I opened LinkedIn and there were 70,000 invites. The compassion was great. Within 38 hours, we sold out all the inventories that we had in India," says Balakrishnan.

An IIT-Bombay grad, Balakrishnan co-founded the company in 2019, along with Utkarsh Biradar and was going through a huge loss. Participating in a reality show was his last resort to save the sinking ship. He even confessed on the show that if it didn't work out, he would go back to a 9-5 job. "The show was shot in August and was aired in January. Five months is a lifetime in the startup world. So that was our last effort at resurrecting Flatheads. We paused operations, cleaned the warehouse and I was exploring some consulting assignments, trying to figure out what to do next," says Balakrishnan, who had already launched two start-ups prior to Flatheads.

> I was frankly embarrassed with the fact that I broke down on national television. I didn't talk about it at all. When the episode aired and it went viral, I was numb
> Ganesh Balakrishnan, co-founder of Flatheads

Now, after being completely sold out, Balakrishnan has a different problem now. "Then we had to get to work because we had already packed up," says Balakrishnan, who lives in Bellandur.

When Balakrishnan broke down, it touched many people's hearts, including 'shark' Anupam Mittal, founder of shaadi.com, who said, 'You might be down, not out yet'. "I was frankly embarrassed with the fact that I broke down on national television. I didn't talk about it at all. When the episode aired and it went viral, I was numb," says Balakrishnan, adding that the story went viral in the US and UAE, which helped him sell his wares internationally as well.

"The story I narrated about what happened to us is a story of many entrepreneurs. It's just that we don't talk about it. We are not a culture that celebrates failure," he says.

While going viral has its own perks, there's another side to it too. "A lot of people started giving gyaan and there are now videos analysing my life to the extent even I haven't," says Balakrishnan with a laugh. His next plan of action? "I'm now looking for a portfolio that Flatheads can be part of."

While the Bengaluru leg of the show was recently held at Bangalore International Centre, the group will be performing at AJ Hall in Kochi on January 20.

The performance features award-winning choreographer and dancer Ryu Suzuki from Dance Base Yokohama in Japan and Hemabharathy Palani from Attakkalari Centre for Movement Arts. The dance production marks the third phase of the project, Scape. Due to the pandemic, things have been done virtually but this time Ryu will be performing live. The last two editions had only one performance, this time there are two solo performances by Hemabharathy Palani and Ryu, and one duet from them. "The focus is on the dancers' narratives and movements. The dancers connected via zoom first, sharing life stories, their histories and then brought all this information with their bodies into the studio and worked intensively for five days," says Jayachandran Palazhy, founder of Attakkalari.

Ryu, who has been collaborating virtually and will perform the routine live in front of the Indian audience, says he is ecstatic with the welcome he received here. Apart from the solo act by Palazy and Suzuki, dancers from both the countries are coming together for a duet.

Can physiotherapy help in diabetes management?

DR BABINA NM

Diabetes is one of the most prevalent non-communicable diseases in the world that can also lead to mortality if left untreated. It is a kind of metabolic disorder that causes the body to produce little or no insulin, thereby, resulting in high glucose levels in the body. The disease can impair the ability of the body to process blood sugar and thus results in the build-up of excess sugar in the blood. There are basically 2 types of diabetes namely type 1 diabetes and type 2 diabetes. Type 1 diabetes is usually caused by genetics while type 2 diabetes results from an unhealthy lifestyle and poor diet.

While there is no cure for diabetes, regular physiotherapy can induce a positive impact on people living with type 2 diabetes, especially in senior people as well as in those who have other comorbidities as well. Physiotherapy can not only help in preventing the progressive worsening of symptoms but also help in managing the existing symptoms.

Physiotherapy can help diabetic people in different ways.

Helps achieve a healthy weight

Most of us are well aware that diabetes is directly or indirectly connected to the weight of the person. The more the weight, the higher the chances of developing diabetes. Physiotherapy can help a diabetic person in managing body weight and thus protects from some of the major risk factors and complications associated with being obese and overweight.

Improves the blood flow

Amputation of the limbs is one of the major side effects of diabetes that results from poor blood circulation and damaged nerves. Physiotherapy can not only assist in managing the body weight of a diabetic person but also enhances blood flow. Regular physiotherapy can lower the risk of amputation and thus allows a diabetic person to live a normal and healthy life.

Reduces fatigue

Fatigue is a common issue among diabetic people. Diabetes can not only make people physically exhausted but also give rise to mental health issues which results in fatigue. Due to that, many people tend to live a sedentary life and put themselves at a greater risk of gaining weight. Physiotherapy makes diabetic people active by reducing their weight.

Lessens musculoskeletal problems

The majority of people suffering from diabetes have musculoskeletal complications like back pain, frozen shoulder or osteoarthritis. Sciatica and Carpal tunnel syndrome are the other neurological conditions that can occur in people suffering from diabetes. In all these conditions, physiotherapy can make a big difference. The physiotherapist uses a combination of passive and active exercises as well as mechanical and electrical aids to promote musculoskeletal and neurological functions.

Consistency with physiotherapy is the key

For diabetic people, it's just not about starting physiotherapy but being consistent with the practice. However, if any of the following symptoms like feeling dizzy, nauseous, discomfort or pain experienced, people must stop immediately and consult with their physician.

Diabetes is on the rise in India. Its prevention and management is a big public health challenge. Leading a healthy lifestyle including participating in physiotherapy, having a well-balanced diet and maintaining a healthy weight are the keys to minimising the risk of developing diabetes. People should always make sure that they avail the services of professional physiotherapists to avoid any problems or issues in the future.

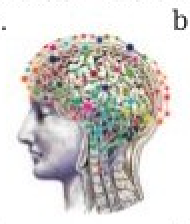
In India, the condition is spreading at an alarming rate where every 40 seconds one person in the country gets a stroke

SPOTTING A STROKE

DR SANTHOSH N U

GONE are the days when heart attacks and strokes were only restricted to the elderly and those who had a history of cholesterol, smoking and diabetes as the disease is getting more common now among people as young as 25 year olds. With an increase in sedentary lifestyle and changing times, there has been a drastic shift in those likely to suffer from it and in recent years more youngsters have succumbed to strokes.



According to the World Health Organization (WHO), stroke is the second largest factor responsible for mortality around the world. Approximately, 13 million people suffer from the disease every year and roughly 5.5 million people die from it annually. In India, the condition is spreading at a more alarming rate where every 40 seconds one person in the country gets a stroke.

What is a stroke?

A stroke is defined as a transient ischemic attack or a cerebrovascular accident that occurs when the blood flow to the brain is blocked which prevents the brain from getting the optimum oxygen and nutrients from the blood. Due to a lack of oxygen and nutrients, brain cells begin to die within minutes causing lasting brain damage, long-term disability and even death.

Signs and symptoms

Signs of stroke range from mild weakness to paralysis on one side of the face or body. Among youngsters, a stroke is defined as FAST which stands for Facial drooping, Arm weakness, Speech difficulties and Time. With this acronym, we can detect stroke and act timely in golden hours. The signs and symptoms of stroke amongst youngsters also include -

- Sudden confusion
- Trouble in speaking or understanding
- Difficulty in seeing in one or both eyes
- Loss of balance or coordination, dizziness, and trouble walking
- Sudden and severe headache with no known cause

Risk factors

An increase in a sedentary lifestyle is the primary reason for higher stroke cases nowadays. Several risk factors such as smoking, alcoholism, increased BMI due to lack of exercise, diabetes, hypertension, dyslipidemia, past history of stroke, family history, rheumatic heart disease with atrial fibrillation, and oral contraceptive pills (2-5 fold increased risk for women) can cause a stroke. Stress, sleep deprivation, and consumption of packaged foods are some of the most common reasons causing higher stroke cases among youngsters.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES

- Adopt a healthy diet by consuming nutritious fresh unprocessed foods and limit your salt intake as they can reduce your risk of hypertension, Type 2 diabetes, and high cholesterol, all of which are the classic risk factors for stroke.
- Get at least 30 minutes of consistent physical activity every day to overcome issues like obesity. Weight loss can help in lowering your blood pressure and can help relieve stress in the heart, lungs, blood vessels and bones.
- Smokers have two to four times higher risk of stroke than non-smokers, hence, one must avoid or quit smoking.
- If you are suffering from diabetes, then you should monitor your blood sugar levels, take your prescriptions and visit a doctor every few months.
- If you have previously had a stroke, you must take the medications prescribed that can help in preventing you from another stroke.

Coffee may cut severity of fatty liver disease in diabetics

Caffeine, polyphenols, and other natural products found in coffee may help reduce the severity of non-alcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD) among overweight people with type 2 diabetes (T2D), a new study says. NAFLD is a collective term for liver disorders caused by a build-up of fat in the liver. These can lead to liver fibrosis, which can progress to cirrhosis (scarring of the liver) and liver cancer, according to a study by the Portugal-based University of Coimbra. "Due to changes in modern diet and lifestyle, there is an increase in obesity and incidence of both T2D and NAFLD, which can ultimately develop into more severe and irreversible conditions, burdening healthcare systems," said the author of the study, John Griffith Jones. In the study, participants who consumed more coffee had healthier livers, but subjects who consumed more caffeine were less likely to develop liver fibrosis, whereas patients who consumed more non-caffeine coffee components had a lower fatty liver index score. The study suggests that for overweight type 2 diabetes patients, a higher intake of coffee is associated with less severe NAFLD. —IANS
